Weather
Overcast and cold. The maximum temperature yesterday was 57.2 and the minimum 45.1, the figures for the corresponding day last year being 47.7 and 32.5.

STABILITY OF GOVERNMENT REQUIREMENT FOR LEAGUE

Commissions Investigate Status Of Candidates For Membership

DR. KOO SPEAKS

China's Representative In Call For Practical Disarmament

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, November 22.—The question of new admissions to membership of the League of Nations has been discussed by the special commission charged with examining the applications.

M. Viviani, France, remarked that the commission would pronounce on individual cases after the examination of the facts.

Mr. Mllen, Australia, and the Jam of Nawanagar, Prince Ranjitsinjhia representing India, urged that the commission must be guided by sentiment, justice and the interest of the State requesting admission.

Three sub-commissions were appointed to consider the applications from the point of view of the stability of the Governments making the applications. The most important of these will be presided over by Lord Robert Cecil, South Africa, and included M. Branting, Sweden, and M. Viviani, and will deal with the applications of Austria and Bulgaria.

NO CHANGE IN COVENANT
(U. S. Naval Radio)

New York, Nov. 24.—The Geneva correspondent of The New York Times states:

It was made known today that the League of Nations will not change the covenant until it has received proposals from the United States.

It is believed that prior to the assembly meeting, which will probably be held in May or June, that Senator Harding will have completed his ideas regarding the Association of Nations and it will be a task of standing while the Committee of the Council examine the proposals to see if there is not some possible method in which the League of Nations Covenant can be altered to accord with them, therefore there is hope that they may prepare some way be which the United States may enter the League.

ASKS SOLID PROGRAM
(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, November 21.—In his speech before the Sixth (Armaments) Commission, of the League of Nations Assembly, Dr. Wellington Koo, China, eloquently dwelt on the practical measures to be taken with a view to disarmament.

He declared that the Commission ought to formulate solid and concrete proposals which would be acceptable to the Governments concerned. He expressed the opinion that it would be better not to create fresh organisations, but to utilise those already existing.

Shanghai, November 24.—The following official French wireless message, transmitted by the Bordeaux Wireless Station, was received by the French Municipal Wireless Station here this morning:

Geneva, November 23.—League of Nations Assembly: Eighth Day.

In conformity with the proposal of Lord Robert Cecil, South Africa, and M. Lafontaine, Belgium, the Armenian question will be studied by a Commission of six members, composed as follows: Lord Robert Cecil, South Africa; M. Lafontaine, Belgium; Dr. Nansen, Norway; Senor Pueyrredon, Argentina; Signor Schantzer, Italy; and M. Viviani, France.

GERMANY'S PROTEST

Mr. Millen, Australia, raised the question of Germany's protest concerning the mandates for the ex-German colonies. The Assembly decided to discuss the matter at its next session.

Lord Robert Cecil's motion for publication of the documents relative to the Polish-Lithuanian dispute was approved by the Chairman, M. Hymans, on behalf of the Council, and by M. Askenasy, on behalf of Poland. The proposal was accordingly adopted unanimously.

Lord Robert Cecil's proposal for fuller publicity for the deliberations and decisions of the Council was approved by M. Hymans, on behalf of the Council, and adopted.

Pilgrims Honored Today

Hold Thanksgiving Service

The President's Proclamation

"IT is particularly befitting in this year that the American people should set aside a day upon which to give thanks.

"That we may contemplate the mercies which have been vouchsafed to us and render heartfelt and unfeigned thanks to God for his manifold goodnesses.

"This is an old observance of the American people deeply implanted in our thoughts and habits. The burdens and the stresses of life have their own insistence.

"We have abundant cause for Thanksgiving. The lesions of the war are rapidly healing. The great army of freedom, which America sent to the defense of Liberty, returning to the grateful embrace of the Nation, has resumed the useful pursuits of peace as simply and as promptly as it rushed to arms in obedience to the country's call. The equal justice of our laws has received steady vindication in the support of a law-abiding people against various and sinister attacks, which have reflected the baser agitations of war, and which now happily are passing.

"In plenty, in security, and in peace, our virtuous and self-reliant people face the future with its duties and its opportunity. May we have the vision to discern our duties; the strength both of hand and resolve to discharge them, and the soundness of heart to realise that the truest opportunities are those of service. In a spirit of devotion and stewardship we should give thanksgiving in our hearts and dedicate ourselves to the service of God's merciful and loving purposes to his children.

"Wherefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the twenty-fifth day of November as a day of Thanksgiving and prayer, and I call upon my countrymen to cease from their ordinary tasks or avocations upon that day, giving it up to the remembrance of God and His blessings, and their dutiful and grateful acknowledgement.

"Witness therefore, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done in the District of Columbia this twelfth day of November, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Nineteen Hundred and Twenty, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and forty-fifth.

"WOODROW WILSON.

"Bainbridge Colby,
"Secretary of the State."

In accordance with President Wilson's proclamation Americans in Shanghai are today giving over ordinary affairs for the Thanksgiving holiday and they are being joined in this by Britons of the community in an observance of the tercentenary of the landing of the pilgrims at Plymouth, Mass.

This general observance of the two holidays is to take the form of a service that is to be held at The Cathedral at half past 5 o'clock this afternoon, as stated in preceding announcements. A detachment of American sailors from American warcraft in the harbor will attend the service and the American Company of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps will march to the Cathedral in a body.

All American public offices, including the Consulate, Post Office, and the various offices of the United States Court for China will be closed today for the Thanksgiving holiday.

As set forth in the program the proclamation that President Wilson issued on November 12, given above, will be read by Mr. Mahlon F. Perkins, acting Consul General. The Rev. A. N. Roland will deliver one of the addresses, on the subject "The Tercentenary Anniversary of the Landing of the Pilgrims." Dr. Luther Freeman, pastor of the Community Church will give Thanksgiving Day address.

It was feared last night that one of the important details of the program as arranged, the playing of the organ prelude by Mr. R. B. Hurry, may have to be changed due to the fact that Mr. Hurry is ill. The program is as follows:

Devlin In Fist Fight On Floor Of Commons When Irish Riots Are Describea

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 22.—Dublin is now comparatively quiet. During the night the military was most active in searching houses.

One man was killed in the street shortly before the ten o'clock curfew began to ring.

Only scanty reports have thus far been received in London regarding the Croke Park tragedy wherein twelve persons were killed and scores injured.

It is stated that when the military appeared on the scene many men scaled the park railings and rushed to neighboring houses, followed by the troops, who fired volleys causing a terrible panic.

The crowd then swept like an avalanche across the playing pitch, many praying aloud as they ran. The scene was terrifying.

COMMONS HEARS DETAILS

In the House of Commons, Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, announced that the situation in Dublin was again normal and that no further disturbances had occurred. Four of the assassins, he stated, had been arrested, one of them wounded. Three were caught red-handed with arms.

There was a violent scene in the House during the questions on Ireland, Mr. Joseph Devlin and a Unionist coming to blows. The sitting was suspended.

In reply to a question in the House Sir Hamar Greenwood read details of the occurrences in Dublin, which he characterised as one of the most awful tragedies in the history of the Empire.

It was, he said, a cruel and savage massacre and wounding of unarmed British officers, and he expressed the hope that this series of cold-blooded and carefully planned atrocities would bring vividly before the public the cruel reality of the Irish situation.

They were fighting an organised band of paid assassins whose plans,

COUNCIL REJECTS EXTENSION PLANS OF CIE FRANCAISE

French Authorities Insist That Head Office Must Be In Shanghai

REFUSE TO NEGOTIATE

Expansion Program, Made Public, Is Declared Ineffectual

Until the French Tramway Company brings its head office from Paris to Shanghai and installs here an administrative head with full authority, the French Municipal Council will not discuss an expansion program with the company's representatives. This is the gist of the Council's attitude expressed in a letter to Director L. Laforest following his communication to the Council in which are set forth plans for extensions in the tramways, electricity department and water works.

The Company had been previously notified by the Council that its future plans must be made known before December 9 or the authorities will exercise the prerogative of taking over the administration of the company.

Minutes of a special Council meeting held on November 12 are published in the Bulletin Municipal. The official publication includes a letter from Director Laforest to the Council and the Council's reply. The communication from the director embodies the contents of a telegram from Paris outlining the expansion program.

FOLLOWING CABLE RECEIVED

The following is a translation of the cablegram received from the Paris offices of the company:

"Our letter of August 4 includes a discussion of your propositions made in February and May and the report of the consultative committee. Our September report, brought by Remond, will complete our instructions.

"The resulting program may be summed up as follows:

"(a) The immediate erection of a building 85 meters in length and 25 meters wide to be used as a new central electric power station, having a productive capacity of 20,000 kilowatts. In another year two additional structures, with a production of 2,000—2,400 kilowatts, will be added to the plant, allowing the production of power for lighting purposes alone of between 2,600 and 3,000 kilowatts. At present it is but 600 kilowatts. The equipment for lighting purposes—building, wires, conduits, transformers, etc., has been planned with the idea of distributing 15,000 or 16,000 kilowatts of electric current.

AS TO WATER SUPPLY

"(b) For the water department the company plans to double the present supply of filters, improvement of the first filters, extension of pumping to the middle of the river, doubling the capacity of the water pipes and increasing the capacity of the water towers to twice their present capacity.

"(c) For the tramways, the company plans to repair the cars in use at present and will purchase trailers in 1920 and larger cars in 1921. It also plans the installation of two sub-stations, each of 800 kilowatts, and feeders.

"It is impossible to consider as insufficient a program which involves the expenditure of over 50,000,000 francs. This program provides for expansion superior to that of the International Settlement, where plans for extension of the electricity department made necessary the raise of a heavy loan by the ratepayers.

DEFENDS LIGHT SUPPLY

"The abandoning of the central electricity plant at Tungkadoo has already satisfied the pressing demand of the Chinese. In spite of this we think that we can agree to certain reasonable demands which are more important than those indicated in your telegram of October 19 on condition that our new concessions are not considered as binding in the future.

"The co-operation of the French authorities is absolutely necessary as the site of the water works is in Chinese territory.

"In order that we may satisfy the demands of the French authorities we have planned to buy expensive new material.

"The loan of electric current from the International Settlement must be continued for a few years for it is indispensable to the installations made following legitimate requests of the French authorities. We desire to reiterate our contention that the administration of the company does not intend to substitute the International Settlement current

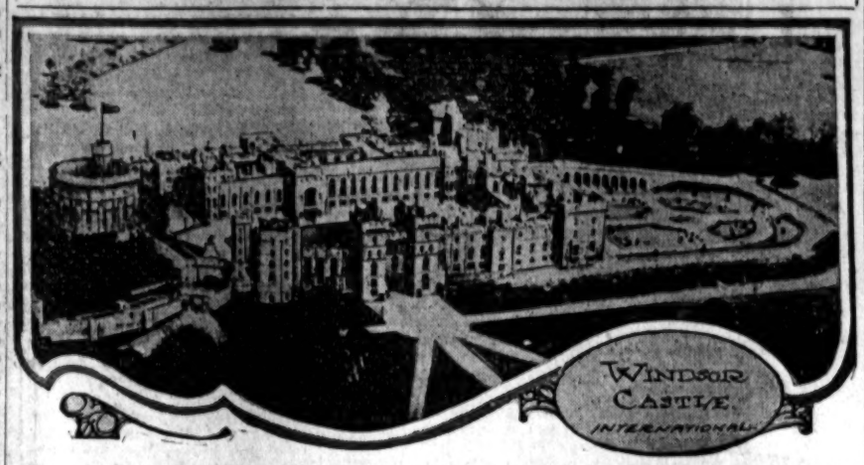
Windsor Castle Photographed From The Air



This remarkable photograph is that of historic Windsor Castle, the home of the British Royal family, taken recently from the air. The photo shows clearly the broad approaches from the Home Park. In addition to heavy police details, swarms of private guards have been posted about the castle in fear of a fresh outbreak of mob rule, which recently occurred when thousands of workmen went on strike.

SUSPEND LAWYER FROM PRACTICE IN BRITISH COURT

W. Strafford Levinson Will Be Permanently Disbarred Unless He Shows Cause

W. Strafford Levinson, formerly a legal practitioner in Shanghai, falsely represented himself as a British subject and may have been the same person who was convicted in Doncaster, England, and lied when he tried to secure British Registration.

This was the opinion expressed by Judge Skinner Turner in the British Supreme Court yesterday when a motion was made by Mr. H. P. Wilkinson, the British Crown Advocate, to revoke Levinson's admission to practice at the British bar.

While not acceding to the prayer of the Crown Advocate, the Judge ordered that Levinson be suspended from practice for six months, with the intimation that he will be disbarred if he fails to appear before the Court and answer the charges against him before the period of suspension expires.

Mr. R. N. Macleod, secretary of the British bar committee, appeared in accordance with the practice of the profession to advance all the points in favor of a suspension of judgment.

LEFT SHANGHAI SUDDENLY

Levinson, who suddenly left Shanghai in September under the pretext that his wife needed a change of climate, was reported to have died in Japan of heart failure. But he was seen later as a passenger on one of the steamers bound for Canada and now is reported to be in Peking.

Papers secured from England showed that a man by the same name was convicted and fined for breaking into government munitions works without a permit. The man was a Russian and was believed to be an agent of the Reds, according to the papers.

Mr. Wilkinson, in moving to revoke the right to practice, said that an affidavit in support of the motion had been filed and that the matter had been before the Court in chambers.

Mr. Macleod said that as honorary secretary of the bar committee he had been served with the notice of the motion and appeared apart from any question of courtesy to the Crown Advocate and was anxious to help the Crown Advocate in this difficulty. He said that, strictly speaking, the bar committee had no interest or real standing in the case, because, the committee was in no way concerned to oppose the motion or in any way defend the man against whom the motion is aimed.

As to the motion itself, Mr. Macleod said that application for striking off the rolls is one to which the Court could not very well accede unless the man complained had had the notice of the motion and some opportunity to appear.

COURT ACTION NECESSARY

The Judge said that he fully appreciated Mr. Macleod's remarks. He considered some action should be taken by that Court, because admission carried with it the right to practice in other courts in China. If nothing was done publicly it would be possible for this practitioner to set up his plate in, say, Tientsin and there practice, with a motion like the one now before the Court hanging over his head here.

Mr. Wilkinson said that substituted service was effected because the practitioner was not here and there seemed no prospect of him ever being here. He admitted in principle that a practitioner should be served in such cases. It was in the interests of the bar that some order should be made.

The Court then rendered the judgment.

CHINA IN DEMAND THAT JAP TROOPS LEAVE C.E. RAILWAY

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 23.—The Chinese Government, in a note dated November 19, requests the withdrawal of the Japanese troops from the Chinese Eastern Railway.

Peking, Nov. 24.—The Waichiaopu's Note to the Japanese Legation, requesting the withdrawal of the Japanese garrisons from the Chinese Eastern Railway, points out that all other Allied troops have withdrawn from Siberia.

It affirms that China is again prepared to take the responsibility for guarding the railway and frontier, that the railway is being reorganised, and that the presence of the Japanese guards is no longer necessary.

Minor points still require arrangement, after which it is expected that the formal cancellation of the pact will take place.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 24.—A Mandate is shortly to be issued, appointing Mr. C. C. Wang as Associate Director of the Chinese Eastern Railway.

The President has decided to write a tablet, expressing appreciation of Mr. Wang's services in this connection.

BOULON CASE TO COME UP DEC. 2

Trial of the case of Mr. Ferdinand G. Boulon, former manager of the Shanghai branch of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore, who has been charged with embezzlement, will be held before Judge C. S. Lobingier in the United States Court for China on December 2.

The date of the trial was fixed yesterday by Judge Lobingier after Mr. Boulon had appeared and, after arraignment, had presented a plea of not guilty to the two specific charges which he is to answer.

On the occasion of yesterday's hearing Mr. R. S. Haskell, attorney for Mr. Boulon, asked that a civil action which Mr. Boulon has begun against the complainant firm, be given precedence over the criminal hearing. The Court denied this. In the civil suit Mr. Boulon is seeking to recover Taels 14,000 and Gold $15,000 which he alleges is due to him.

Peking Takes Steps In Hope Of Peace

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 24.—The Government is about to establish a Unification Department in Peking, which will deal with all questions of internal peace, the outlook for which is distinctly improving. Canton alone is showing no disposition to listen to Peking.

Italians Reopen Trade With Russia

(Reuter's Service)

Constantinople, Nov. 21.—The reopening of Italian trade with the Bolshevists has been marked by the granting of an Italian request for permission for a merchantman to proceed to Novo-Rossisk for the purpose of general trading.

COUNSEL CLASH IN VERBAL TILT AT MIXED COURT

Mr. Fleming Denounces Dr. Fischer As Opium Case Resumes

There was another burst of verbal pyrotechnics in the Mixed Court yesterday when the hearing was resumed of the case wherein four Chinese, including a detective, attached to Wayside station, are charged with felonious seizure of $1,120 worth of opium which was being brought ashore from the Sakaki Maru.

The principal flare-up occurred between Dr. J. O. Fischer, who is prosecuting the case, and Mr. W. S. Fleming, for the defendants, Dr. Fischer at the start of delivering a crushing broadside in reply.

The case is being given special hearing before Italian Assessor Ferrajolo and Magistrate Tsang. It will be recalled that at the last previous hearing both Mr. R. C. Faithfull, representing the police, and Mr. Fleming objected to the matter coming before the Italian Assessor, the latter attorney declaring that it had become a "public scandal" that practically all the cases in which Dr. Fischer appeared and claimed Italian interests went before that Assessor. It was the recurrence of this issue which started the fireworks yesterday.

REGULARITY QUESTIONED

When the hearing opened Mr. Faithfull stated that he had been directed by the Commissioner of Police to call the Court's attention to a letter written by the Senior Consul, Mr. D. Siffert, to the Mixed Court on January 17, 1913. The letter deals with the matter of foreign jurisdiction in the Court the Assessor of the day having ruled previously that there was no foreign jurisdiction. Mr. Faithfull began reading as follows:

"With reference to the Registrar's report, the Consular Body draws the attention of the Court to the necessity of strict application of the rules of procedure as approved at the Consular meeting of Dec. 29, 1912 and communicated on January 3, 1913.

"According to the rules the Consul-General of the nationality concerned shall be the sole person to determine whether a foreign interest is involved or not and the decision is not subject to discussion by the Assessor of the day."

At this point Dr. Fischer interrupted.

"I appear for the prosecution," he stated, "and I fail to see why Mr. Faithfull is reading this letter."

"I have been instructed to do so," replied Mr. Faithfull.

DR. FISCHER IS IRRITATED

"I don't care whether you have been instructed or not," retorted Dr. Fischer. "You have already made enough fuss. You should be with me in the prosecution instead of against me. The Court knows quite well what the rules are without your telling it. You must think people are all fools."

"I know the rules quite well," remarked the Assessor. "I will go on with the case."

Mr. Faithfull then asked the Court for permission to finish reading the letter, stating that it was his contention that the application regarding the determining of foreign interest in the

Economic Reprisals Is Program If Ex-King Takes Throne

(Reuter's Service)

Athens, November 21.—The plebiscite on the question of the return of ex-King Constantine, which was announced for the 28th inst., has been postponed.

Paris, November 23.—The French Premier, M. Georges Leygues, will leave Paris for London on the 25th instant, if the debate in the Chamber on the resumption of diplomatic relations with the Vatican is finished in time.

The object of the Premier's visit, as has already been stated, is to discuss the Greek situation.

WILL NOT USE FORCE

Although the French and British Governments are apparently agreed on opposition to Constantine's reascending the throne, on account of his repeated violations of the Greek constitution during the war, and his marked hostility to the Entente, it is understood that they will not resort to force to prevent the ex-King's return to Athens, but will warn the Greek people that Constantine's recall would bring in its train disastrous political, economic and financial consequences for their country.

Meanwhile, the Greek Government, no doubt frightened by the strong line taken up by France and Great Britain, have postponed from November 28 to December 5, the convocation of Parliament to decide on the question of a holding a plebiscite regarding Constantine's return.

Paris, Nov. 20.—M. Leygues, the French Premier, will shortly leave for London, on a visit to Mr. Lloyd George, when the situation arising in the Near East from the Greek crisis will be discussed. The Temps, in expressing satisfaction at this impending meeting, writes: "The pacification of the Near East is certainly an urgent problem, whose solution, however, is to be found only in agreement between the Allied Governments not on side issues alone, but on the whole of their policies."

REVIEWS SITUATION

Paris, Nov. 23.—The Premier, M. Georges Leygues, yesterday addressed a note to the British Government in which he reviewed the charges that have been brought against ex-King Constantine.

Governmental circles here confidently expect that Great Britain will associate herself with France on the question of the Greek succession.

The Municipal Council of Paris adopted an address of sympathy with M. Venizelos yesterday, and decided that a street in Paris should be named after him.

Messina, Nov. 21.—M. Venizelos and his party have arrived here, but have not left their ship.

Paris, Nov. 23.—According to the French press, it is probable that M. Leygues will go to England on Sunday. It is understood that the Secretary-General to the Ministry for Foreign Affairs, M. Berthelot will precede the Premier on his visit.

CABINET DISCUSSION

Paris, November 23.—A Cabinet meeting presided over by M. Millerand, took place this morning. The President discussed foreign affairs and more particularly the situation arising out of the recent Greek election. At M. Millerand's suggestion, the Prefect of the Aisne was designated for the post of President-General at Tunis.

The Ministers of Public Works and Labor reported on the agreement established under date of November 18 between the National Council of the Federation of Under-ground Workers, the representatives of the collieries and the Government.

The burial of the "unknown soldier" beneath the Arc de Triomphe was officially approved.

The Minister of War, M. Andre Lefevre, was prevented by illness from taking part in the meeting.

TRADE UNION HEAD IN BRITAIN QUITS POST AS PROTEST

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 22.—Mr. W. A. Appleton, M.P., announces his resignation from the presidency of the International Federation of Trade Unions, and in an explanatory letter makes it clear that he does not agree with the present policy of the Federation.

At a meeting of the Congress of the Federation, held in London today, Mr. J. H. Thomas, M.P., the railwaymen's leader, was elected to succeed Mr. Appleton.

In the course of a speech, Mr. Thomas emphasised that the one thing the world required today was peace. He urged the Congress to attempt to secure a more equitable distribution of raw material and the stabilisation of exchanges.

Imperial Conference Is To Be Postponed

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 22.—In the House of Commons today, replying to a question by Major O'Neill (Mid Antrim), Mr. Lloyd George said that it was not proposed to abandon the special Imperial Conference on inter-imperial constitutional relationships, but the public opinion of the Empire had not had enough time properly to consider the matter to enable the conference to be held next year.

He hoped, however, that it would be possible to hold it in 1922. He emphasised that the Dominions desired this postponement.

Shanghai Students At Princeton Star In Soccer Matches

The many friends of Charles Woodbridge and John Mosher, Shanghai students at Princeton University, will be pleased to learn that these boys, who prepared for college in the American School here, are winning honors on the athletic field as well as in the class-room.

Woodbridge and Mosher recently starred in a soccer football match played between Princeton and the Crescent A. C. team of Brooklyn, N. Y., which the Tigers won by three goals to nil.

Woodbridge, according to a copy of the Daily Princetonian recently received here, was "the backbone of the Princeton attack, and was responsible for all three of the goals."

Young Woodbridge is a son of Dr. S. I. Woodbridge of this city, while Mosher's father was recently appointed Bishop of the Philippines from Wusih, China.

VICE-MINISTER AT CHITA

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

PIRATES DEMAND RANSOM

The sailing boat Kwang Sung, owned by a local Chinese shipping company, was attacked by pirates outside Woosung a few days ago and the laodah was captured and is being held for ransom. The company received a letter from the pirates, dated at Haimung, yesterday and have sent representatives to that place to try and effect the captive's release.

Mixed Court Cases Run To High Figure

Over Five Thousand Actions Last Month; Many Piece Goods Suits

The criminal calendar at the Mixed Court last month was one of the heaviest on record, Inspector J. E. Wheeler, Acting Registrar, comments in the Municipal Gazette.

During the period no less than 5,124 cases were disposed of, necessitating very late sessions in the Police Courts and also in the courts set aside for special hearings. There were 189 Chinese civil cases heard, as against 64 heard in September.

Of 47 foreign civil cases filed 27 aggregated nearly three-quarters of a million taels, about a third of this amount being involved in actions brought against Chinese firms by foreigners for breach of piece goods contracts.

Chinese Courts For Russians Are Being Formed By Officials

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, November 20.—Vice Minister of Justice Mr. Chang Yi-peng, the newly appointed Chief Justice in Harbin, where a District and Higher Courts of Justice are to be established to substitute the Russian courts, has now departed with a large retinue to his destination with a view to enforcing the orders of the Chinese Government.

No Supreme Court is to be established in Harbin and the Higher Court of Justice will in this instance exercise supreme function in the absence of special orders from the Central Government. Eleven Russian common courts formerly existed along the zone of the Chinese Eastern Railway. These are now abolished. Several procurators are to be appointed for the District and Higher Courts of Justice in Harbin.

Five Air Routes In China Are Approved

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, November 19.—The Aviation Bureau's definition of five commercial air-routes to be first developed in China: namely; Peking-Shanghai, Peking-Hankow, Peking-Harbin, Peking-Urga and Urga-Kobdo, have been approved by the Cabinet. These routes will be proclaimed by Presidential Mandate.

Smiles from the Mixed Court

The late Alex. Dumas is generally regarded as a versatile spinner of yarns, but, given a fair opportunity to show what he can do in the way of facile imaginings, Koo Han-sung would push the fanciful Frenchman for the honors.

Up until about 5:30 p.m. of Monday Koo was a member of the engineroom crew at Messrs. Whiteaway, Laidlaw & Company. At that hour one of the foreign members of the store's staff went out into the rear compound where he found Koo, who seemed embarrased by the meeting and tried to distract attention from a bundle he was holding by swinging it to a position behind his back. The foreigner, however, was curious and made inquiries and, the other exhibiting reluctance about replying, took the package and opened it, disclosing some electric light fixtures and a water-cock.

At this point Koo began his series of imaginative tales. His first attempt was a simple, homely little narrative such as those of Mr. Henry James might be found to be were they not so encumbered with language. Koo said he had been walking across the compound. He saw a bundle upon the ground, he picked it up and—climax—his interrogator had appeared.

The interrogator did not seem much impressed. Whereupon Koo shifted his style for one more approaching the tone of Mr. Harold B. Wright and other vivid picturers of the athletic, adventursome life. He had been walking on the roof when, suddenly and without a moment's warning, he fell off its edge. Plunging downward into the abyss, he clutched wildly at things in passing. The fixtures coming into his grasp were torn away and remained in his hand. This version also embodied somewhat the idea of the modern detective story in that Koo cleverly left out any explanation as to how the fixtures came to be wrapped up and made no reference to the water-cock.

Koo's audience exhibited similar lack of enthusiasm about the second yarn. As he told the Court yesterday, it would have taken two hours' working to remove those fixtures.

Koo sprung a further revised recital on the Court. That package, he said, had been lying in the carpenter's shop under the stairs for four days. Nobody had paid the least attention to it in all that time and he had naturally supposed that it was something worthless, so he thought he would take it home.

If some compounder of modern fiction will call on Koo at the end of the week of meditation prescribed for him by the Court he can doubtless get a lot of inspiration.

THE INFATUATION OF TSU

Another Chinese employe of a foreign firm came to grief in the Mixed Court yesterday.

Tsu Ling-foh was formerly a parcel coolie in Messrs. Weeks & Co's. establishment. While otherwise unoccupied on Tuesday afternoon he went to one of the show cases, abstracted a thermos flask, slipped it into one of his trousers legs and started to walk out of the store, assuming as natural and indifferent a gait as might be under the circumstances. It wasn't natural nor casual enough to fool the watchman, however, and Tsu was hailed before the management and, subsequently, before the court.

The Assessor asked what the reason was for Tsu's lapse from virtue and the interpreter and the man in the dock burst into an explosive exchange of syllables.

"He says," reported the interpreter, "that he took the flask because he had grown fond of it."

For thus allowing his affections to run away with him Tsu must put in three weeks at the Municipal jail.

Prices Are Falling, Says Paris Banker

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, November 23.—The Intransigeant publishes the following statements by M. Robineau, Governor of the Bank of France:

"It is certain that the deflation of prices is in progress."

"It will follow a gradual curve. It is determined principally by American initiative, and the price of those raw materials of which the United States is the source."

Will Try Chauffeur For Manslaughter

The chauffeur of a motor lorry was ordered held for prosecution on the charge of manslaughter following an inquest held yesterday over the body of a nine-year-old Chinese boy who was killed on North Chekiang Road last Saturday afternoon.

The court, composed of Assessor Hutchison and Magistrate Tsang, held that the driver was guilty of carelessness. The owner of the truck, who was riding on it at the time of the accident, was accused by a Chinese Police Constable of having offered the father of the boy $25 to withdraw pressure of the case. The owner made several conflicting statements on the stand.

Fiori Is Now Chief Of Police Force In French Concession

Lieutenant Felix Fiori has been named as chief of police in the French Concession to succeed Captain Charles Schmitt, resigned. Lieut. Fiori was formerly assistant chief. The appointment dates from November 1. Mr. G. Xavier has been named Deputy Chief of the Detective Department and Mr. R. Delente has been appointed Chief Inspector. Mr. Xavier was formerly chief detective and Mr. Delente was secretary to the chief of police. The promotions are announced in the Bulletin Municipal, the official publication of the French Municipal Council.

Train Robbers In U.S. Destroy Bonds Worth $5,000,000

(Reuter's Service)

Omaha, November 21.—Robbers who attacked a mail van at Council Bluffs, Iowa, burned bonds valued at over 5,000,000. It is believed that the robbery is the largest in the history of the Post Office. The loss falls heavily upon two American companies which had insured the bonds.

SOVIET METHODS ARE ADOPTED BY CHITA

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Vladivostok, Nov. 24.—An order has been issued from Chita, making the money issued by the Far-Eastern Government lawful tender.

The commercial firms in Vladivostok do not, however, intend to accept this currency, and in case force is applied to make them do so they are resolved to discontinue trading.

The authorities in Chita have also telegraphed to all the centers in Far Eastern Russia, giving instructions for stock to be taken of available foodstuffs, and for ascertaining what steps have been taken to gather in and procure these supplies, together with the number of people actually working, who are to be divided into three categories.

It will thus be seen that the new Government is adopting Soviet methods.

OAK

Oak Flooring costs just about the same as a High-class Carpet.

A carpet, no matter how good the quality may be, wears out in a few years—an oak floor will last a life-time and longer. A well polished oak floor is infinitely superior in appearance to an ordinary carpet. Oak flooring is hygienic; it does not harbour dust and germs as does a carpet. Oak flooring costs from Tls. 25 to Tls. 40 per fong (100 sq. feet) according to the design selected.

WE SUPPLY
OAK FOR FLOORING, WAINSCOTING, PANELLING, ETC.
KILN-DRIED AND OF PRIME QUALITY

We give all orders personal attention. After you have placed your order with us, the flooring will be laid and all work carried out under the personal supervision of a foreign expert of the Company. This supervision costs you nothing and we prefer to do this for you.

Insist that all lumber for flooring and panelling for interior work bears the "Three Pines" Trade Mark, and the letters "KD" signifying kiln-dried, thus ensuring its perfect quality, and suitability for the severe climatic conditions of China.

which had recently been discovered, include the destruction of life and property in England as well as Ireland.

FIGHT IN HOUSE

The reading of the ghastly details of the murders affected the House most deeply, and was greeted with dead silence except for occasional shocked murmurs.

Sir William Davison declared that the House was ready at a single sitting to give the Government whatever power was necessary to stamp out the atrocious murder campaign in Ireland, and suggested the introduction of legislation allowing persons found in the possession of arms or ammunition without a permit in any disturbed area of Ireland to be shot. He was loudly applauded.

Mr. Lloyd George, in replying, expressed horror of the cold-blooded murder of unarmed British officers and emphatically stated that the Government were determined to suppress the murder conspiracy in Ireland.

DEEP LAID PLOT

They realised, he said, that the suppression of such a carefully organised and highly subsidised plot would take time, but were convinced, despite recent happenings, that the Irish authorities were gradually succeeding in their efforts to break up the gang of assassins who had been terrorising the country.

If, however, experience showed that the Irish Government's powers were insufficient, the Government would not hesitate to ask Parliament for such further authority as might be necessary to achieve that end.

BRUTAL CASE

Among the Dublin massacres, one case is particularly revolting in its brutality.

A party of between twelve and twenty men knocked at the door of a house, and when it was opened they rushed in and dragged the landlord and Captain MacLean, both of whom were in bed with their wives, out of bed and prepared to despatch them forthwith. On Captain MacLean's imploring them not to murder him before the eyes of his wife, they forced the two men and Mrs. MacLean's brother-in-law into another room and there shot them in cold blood.

Another victim was Captain Baggalay who lost a leg in the war.

It is stated that the murderers were strangers in Dublin, and that they were placed in the hands of guides, some of whom were girls who knew the private houses wherein the various officers lived.

POLICE REPORT

The Dublin police declare that 150 men were concerned in Sunday's murders, while another 50 acted as pickets.

Capt. Fitzgerald, one of Sunday's victims, recently had a terrible experience in County Clare, where he was kidnapped by a murder gang. A revolver was fired close to his head, but it missed fire.

The Captain was then dragged into a field, and had his arm twisted until it was dislocated. After this he was put on a wall and fired on. The bullet missed him, but Capt. Fitzgerald fell, feigning death. Ultimately he escaped, only to be murdered in Dublin yesterday.

Meanwhile the irony of the Lord Mayor of Dublin applying for police protection when a couple of hundred Sinn Fein murderers are at large in the city is widely remarked on.

NURSE ARRESTED

Light is thrown on the manner in which the murder gang travelled to Dublin by an official report, which states that on Saturday night a Dublin nurse was arrested near Sligo, while driving a motor-car towards Dublin, containing three local suspects, with ten rifles, four revolvers, hundreds of rounds of ammunition, and some equipment which was identified as belonging to murdered police. All the occupants of the car were arrested.

Later, another car, making for Dublin, was caught on the same road and its five armed occupants arrested.

Although the full story of the awful scene at Croke Park on Sunday afternoon is yet to come, further details are afforded by a brief official account. This emphasises that the military lorries were fired on by Sinn Fein pickets while nearing the ground. The object of the raid was to search for armed men in consequence of the murders of officers in the morning.

WOMEN DISPERSED

On the arrival of the troops at the ground, some 20 minutes after the football match had started, the women and children were ordered to clear out, while the men were told to remain, with a view to their being searched. Numbers of men attempted to flee, whereupon a volley was fired in the air, as a warning to them to obey orders.

The subsequent scene appears to have been one of indescribable panic, the military firing in order to enforce the detention of the men in order to search them, while the terror-stricken crowd was imbued with the wild desire to escape at all costs.

Ultimately the panic subsided, and the crowds were ordered to hold up their hands while a systematic search followed. The official report says that 30 revolvers were thrown away by persons in the crowd, and subsequently found in the grounds by the soldiers.

GOAL KEEPER KILLED

It is believed that there were 12 people killed and 10 wounded by the firing, the remainder of the casualties having been caused by the panic.

Fifty persons were subsequently treated at the hospitals.

One of those killed was the Tipperary goal-keeper, named Hogan, who when the bullets began to strike the playing field, dropped flat and started to crawl to cover, when he was hit in the mouth by a bullet.

An official report in regard to the Croke Park tragedy points out that a number of those concerned in the morning's murders were believed to be present at the football match.

GUARDS ATTACKED

It had been arranged that after the ground had been surrounded an officer should speak to the crowd by megaphone from the center of the field, intimating that a search for arms and murderers would be made, and that there would be no danger to anyone.

An officer with a megaphone was actually detailed for this purpose, and accompanied the party, but before the forces of the Crown could approach the ground they were fired on by Sinn Fein pickets. This upset the whole arrangements, and immediately caused a stampede among the spectators.

Moreover, there is good reason to state that some shots were fired inside the ground with the motive of creating such a stampede, and allowing those who were "wanted" to escape in the confusion, as actually happened.

AMAZING SCENE

The scene in the House of Commons this afternoon, when two members came to fisticuffs, was amazing.

The atmosphere in the House was one of high tension after Sir Hamar Greenwood had read the details of the murders, and when Mr. Devlin, the Nationalist member for the Falls division of Belfast, rose and suggested that the troops had fired indiscriminately on the crowd in the football field, he was howled down.

The member sitting below Mr. Devlin tried to pull him down into his seat, whereupon Mr. Devlin lunged forward fiercely and the two closed, while other members tried to separate them.

The House was then in an uproar, one Labor member challenging anyone to a fight.

Meanwhile Mr. Devlin, white with rage, was struggling furiously. Finally he was torn apart from his opponent and kept in his seat by his friends.

The Speaker then declared the sitting suspended. On the House resuming 15 minutes later, Major Molson (Unionist member for Gainsborough) who was Mr. Devlin's opponent, and Mr. Devlin apologised to each other, and the incident thus terminated.

Dublin, Nov. 24.—A fight occurred Monday morning in the guard room of the Dublin Castle between three Sinn Feiners and their custodians.

It appears that the prisoners in an attempt to escape made use of bombs and rifles. As a result the three Sinn Feiners were shot.

Horne Is Opposed To Russian Trade

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 22.—During question time in the House of Commons, the assumption that the reopening of trade with Russia would mean an immediate exchange of goods with that country was deprecated by Sir Robert Horne, President of the Board of Trade, who emphasised the fact that it would be a considerable time before Russia would be able to export any appreciable quantity of goods.

Turk Is Appointed Aleppo Governor

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 21.—General Gouraud, the French High Commissioner in Cilicia and Syria, stated before a Parliamentary Committee that the French work of organisation is proceeding there very satisfactorily, with the co-operation of the Christian and Moslem notabilities. The governorship of Aleppo was, he said, entrusted to a Turk.

The elections are to take place in the Lebanon next spring. The General eulogised the chivalry of the Turkish soldiers. The efficiency of Mustapha Kemal's troops was decreasing, because they were now being recruited under compulsion.

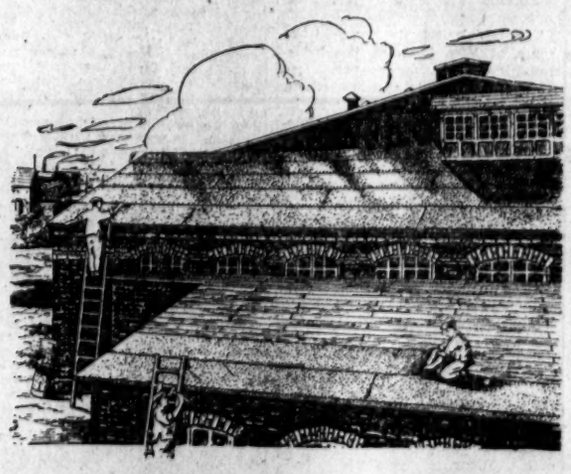
How To Fight Moisture

(A series of suggestions to building owners, factory superintendents, transportation companies, commercial houses, contractors and architects.)

Suggestion No. 5—Roof



While moisture alone plays its havoc under the ground, it is helped by the sun when it begins to attack the roof.

Therefore, to make the roof water and moisture-proof, you must first make it sun-proof. The roofing having the greatest percentage of asphalt saturation and coating, but particularly saturation, is the kind that takes the longest to dry out under the sun. This is why this kind of roofing maintains its water-proof quality much longer than roofing of less saturation.

Certain-teed Roofings are made from soft rag-stock felt specially formed to carry an abundance of blended asphalt saturation.

For this reason they make an ideal roof for all types of buildings.

COUNSEL CLASH IN VERBAL TILT AT MIXED COURT

case had not been made to the Consul-General.

"That is not your business," replied the Assessor. "I signed it on behalf of the Consul-General. That is enough for you."

ATTACKS MR. FLEMING

"I never made the application," snapped Dr. Fischer, addressing the opposing counsel. "It is a lie. I repeat that it is a lie and it was blackmail on the part of Mr. Fleming."

Mr. J. B. Davies, who was representing the defendants in Mr. Fleming's absence, here rose to his partner's defense.

"Our firm is appearing for the defense," he said. "Mr. Fleming will be here presently. I do not think Dr. Fischer will dare repeat his statements when Mr. Fleming arrives."

"I will repeat it. I do so now," said the opposing counsel.

Mr. Davies inquired if it were correct that Dr. Fischer had meant that it was blackmail on the part of Mr. Fleming.

"It has nothing to do with you," retorted Dr. Fischer.

Mr. Faithfull at this juncture asked if the Court refused to hear the rest of the letter.

"Yes," said the Assessor, "I know all about it."

MR. FLEMING REPLIES

While the first witness was being examined Mr. Fleming arrived in Court and at the conclusion of the testimony arose to address the bench.

"May it please the Court," he said, "I understand that at the opening of this case Mr. Fischer stated that remarks I made at a previous session of the Court with respect to him were for the purpose of blackmailing.

"I do not know why he should make this statement, or why he should accuse me of dealing in what is his own principal stock in trade. So far as Mr. Fischer is concerned, he is an Austrian, an enemy of my country and an enemy of China."

The Assessor interrupted at this point, saying he did not wish the proceedings interfered with by personal matters, which should be discussed out of Court.

Mr. Fleming then asked if the Court would compel Mr. Fischer to retract his remarks and if not if the Court meant to deny him the right to defend himself against them.

FINAL AMENITIES

Dr. Fischer started to speak.

"As the remarks came from the most blackhearted scoundrel we have ever had in Shanghai," Mr. Fleming interrupted, "I think probably it will not be necessary to say anything more."

The Assessor rapped on the bench for order and requested both Mr. Fleming and Dr. Fischer to sit down and the case then proceeded.

The case, as outlined by the prosecution, is based on the contention that the complainant, Shen Foh-piau, who is employed by Funder & Co., was approached by a friend on October 3 and asked to help dispose of some black opium which was at that time on board a ship from Dalny. He negotiated a loan of $1,000 with a relative and went aboard the ship with the friend at 4 a.m. next day. As they left the ship with the opium, which was in two baskets, one of which was carried by the ship's quartermaster, they were surrounded by the four accused and the opium was seized. The detective, Tsang Ling-fah, at first wanted to take the complainant to the station, the prosecution alleges, and then demanded $1,000 as payment for not doing so. The demand was cut down to $500 finally and $300 was paid on the spot. Afterwards the accused refused to give up either opium or money.

Two witnesses were examined yesterday, the complainant and the ship's quartermaster, who said he did not know what the basket contained and had carried it ashore for a consideration of 20 cents.

The hearing was adjourned until tomorrow afternoon.

Situation Clears In Mesopotamia

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 22.—A Mesopotamia communique from the War Office states that, though sporadic outbreaks of disorder are still to be feared, organised resistance is now at an end.

The 55th and 53rd brigade columns, operating on the Shatt Hilla and Shatt Sindiyes branches of the Euphrates, have met with little resistance, and have recovered a large amount of Government property.

The inhabitants are surrendering arms and ammunition.

Weddings

MACFARLANE-GILBERT

A quiet wedding was solemnised at the Cathedral on Wednesday when Miss Mildred Gilbert, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gilbert of San Francisco, was married to Mr. Alastair Macfarlane, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Macfarlane.

The bride, who was given away by the Rev. C. R. Macrae, looked charming in a strictly tailored costume of dark blue with a corsage of pink roses. Miss Gilbert was attended by Miss Betty Macfarlane, sister of the bridegroom, and Mr. I. D. Macdonald acted as best man. Mr. C. C. Graham kindly officiated at the organ. Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at 21 Macgregor Road, after which the bride and bridegroom left by the noon train for Nanking where the honeymoon is being spent.

MOLLAND-IVANOFF

Nanking has again been the scene of an exceedingly pretty wedding, when on Monday, November 22 at 8 p.m. Miss Tatiana Ivanoff, younger daughter of General and Madame Ivanoff was married to Captain C. E. Molland of the Postal Service, Nanking.

The wedding was held in the Da Shih Chaio Church, which was most beautifully decorated with white chrysanthemums and bamboo. It will be remembered that the two sisters of the bridegroom, Mrs. Paul Jernigan and Mrs. Neville Merritt were both married in this church.

The bride was exquisite in a gown of white satin, with court train, veil and orange-blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of tube roses and carnations. She was attended by Miss Eleanor Blackstone as bridesmaid, and her sister Madame Boris Issaieff as matron of honor. The bride was given away by her father.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Magee. After the blessing was pronounced the beautiful hymn, "Oh Perfect Love," was sung by a quartette. While the bride and groom waited to receive the congratulations of their friends before leaving the church, a solo, "Because," was sung by Mr. Treeman.

The bridal party returned to the home of Mrs. Molland, the bridegroom's mother, for supper, after which the bridal couple left on their honeymoon which will be spent in Amoy with the bridegroom's brother, the only absent member of the family.

Mexicans Go After Trade In South

(Reuter's Service)

Buenos Aires, October 9.—With the arrival of Senor Jesus Urueta, the new Mexican Minister to Argentina, announcement has been made of the establishment of a commercial agency of the Mexican Government in Buenos Aires for the purpose of acquainting Argentine importers with Mexican products and stimulating trade between the two countries.

Although welcoming this enterprise, a local newspaper points out that since neither Argentine nor Mexico have a merchant marine, an interchange of trade between the two countries will have to depend on British or American ships.

AFTER SUN-SET

The Strange Malady of a Young Girl in Singapore.

Syed Abdollah Alsagoff, son of the late Syed Alsagoff, the famous merchant of Singapore, says:—"I cannot but think that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were the means of saving my sister's life. Everybody marvelled at her cure." The facts of this young lady's case, as related by her brother on her behalf, are as follows:—

"Some time ago my sister was suffering from Anaemia and a sort of fever which came on every evening soon after sun-set. We had her under medical treatment but gradually she got worse and worse. Her face was pale and haggard, she became so thin that she was nothing but skin and bone and distressing to look upon. Sleeplessness troubled her greatly, her appetite was very poor and she only wanted to eat sour things. She became so weak that for many months she was confined to her room.

"I despaired for her recovery until one day I read that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a cure for diseases of this character. Then I persuaded my sister to try these famous Pills, and the experiment proved a great success. The first bottle of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills relieved her considerably and produced signs of decided improvement. So she continued taking them until she was entirely well. She is now strong and healthy, has a good appetite and has increased in weight. The fever has disappeared."

Although styled by the alliterative title "Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale People," Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been used and eulogized by people of almost every race and clime for ovrr thirty years as the world's great remedy for disorders arising from impure, watery blood or disordered nerves. They are obtainable from medicine vendors everywhere, also, post free, 1 bottle for $1.50, six bottles for $8/—, from the Dr. William' Medicine Co. 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

FURS
GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE

Our strong desire is to extend our business. During the early part of this season many of our branches throughout the Northern parts of China and Manchuria, and elsewhere, have been searching for valuable furs. We have now made these into dresses, muffs, rugs, and other suitable articles for presents. We have also different coloured skins for the trimming of dresses, also a great deal of the finest fox, ermines, white bear skin and tiger skins. All these are on exhibition in our store. "Christmas" will soon be here. Our manager has put an advertisement in all the leading newspapers to inform all our old and new customers that all prices have been greatly reduced. You will be welcome at all times.

"SKYSCRAPER" WINS HANKOW CHAMPIONS WITH DUPREE UP; SHANGHAI RIDERS OUTDONE

uld Finishes Second on "Tempest"; Dunne Third On "Challenger"—Hill And Bremner, However, Capture Riding Honors Of Up-River Autumn Meet

(Amplified Staff Wire to The China Press)

Hankow, November 24.—The Adamant Stable's gallant bay pony Skyscraper, previous winner of The Hankow Stake and The Maiden Stakes, today won the Hankow Championship Sweepstakes for 1920 (Autumn Meeting) in somewhat hollow fashion from the Nero Stable's white pony Tempest. Mr. H. F. Baker's bay Challenger and a representative field of diminutive speed-burners.

Admirably ridden by Mr. Dupree, Skyscraper came romping home with his tail whisking, lengths ahead of Tempest, which took second place away from Challenger (the third pony) after a pretty struggle. Mr. Dupree stated after the race that he had used neither whip nor spur on his mount throughout the mile-and-a-quarter scamper.

Skyscraper performed remarkably throughout the three-day eeting, winning an event each y. Challenger, ridden by Mr. emner, won The Lottery Cup e first day; The Yangtsze Cup second day and The Race Club today, but could not keep up the leader under the urge of Dunne, who rode him in "The mpions." Tempest ran to his form.

ót one of Shanghai's three lar riders—Hill, Bremner or am—figured "in the money" the big race.

ndeed, this was Hankow's day ar as riders were concerned. Dupree, besides winning "The mpions," annexed three nds and two thirds; while Mr. ckey captured the second, rth and fifth events and finishthird in the final race of the r. Bremner was first home in races, Mr. Bauld in one and Crokam in one. Mr. Hill was pelled to be satisfied with four nd-place finishes.

lowever, Mr. Hill won the nier riding honors of the meet totals of five firsts, seven nds and five thirds. Mr. mner was second with six ts and four seconds; while Mr. pree was third with four wins, r seconds and eight thirds. Mackey, despite six wins, was rth; while Mr. Crokam was h and Mr. Bauld sixth.

A big crowd was out again toy, despite the clouds and cold. e abbreviated summaries fol-w:

WORLD SERIES THIS YEAR NOT BIG AS 1919

Cleveland, October 13.—Figures for this year's World Series, given out today by John E. Bruce, Secretary of the National Commission, show that neither the attendance nor the gate receipts were as great as in last year's contests. The figures vary slightly over previous unofficial totals given out and still are subject to correction. Mr. Bruce said, as errors in checking may develop. The figures are not carried into the odd cents.

The National Commission pointed out that the league and club officials lost at least $100,000 because the series did not go nine games, as the Brooklyn club already had sold tickets to that amount for the two unplayed contests and will have to return the money.

Only in 1911, 1917 and 1919 were the attendance figures for the series exceeded, while only in 1919 were the receipts greater than this year.

Seventeen world series now have been played in modern baseball and the total attendance was 2,431,579. The total receipts were $4,766,935.

The approximate figures for 1919 and 1920 follow:

1920.
Total attendance	178,737
Total receipts	564,800
National Commission's share	56,480
Each club's share	146,718
Players' share	214,932

Losing team's share	64,465
Each winning player's share	4,204
Each losing player's share	2,387
Purse for second and third teams of each league	58,770
1919.

ALEXA STIRLING IS WOMAN CHAMP FOR THIRD TIME

Red-Haired Georgia Girl Defeats Dorothy Hurd In U. S. Golf Finals

Miss Alexa Stirling of Atlanta will wear the women's national golf crown for the third consecutive time, a record equaled only once in the history of the women's tourney. The red-haired Georgia girl won the title at the Mayfield Club near Cleveland, Ohio, last month by defeating Mrs. J. V. Hurd of the Westmoreland Club, Pittsburgh, 4 and 3.

Mrs. Hurd, formerly Miss Dorothy Campbell, has been twice champion of the United States and England and has also held the French, Irish, Scotch and Canadian titles.

Miss Stirling's best single feat was to score a birdie on the 450-yard line, which she played in four. Her drive was over 200 yards and her second shot, an iron, carried to the very edge of the green. She had a brilliant approach putt dead to the cup.

The champion played a wonderful long-driving game, having the edge on her rival from the tee on every hole except the twelfth, where Mrs. Hurd's shot was five feet longer. In approaching and putting they were fairly even, but Miss Stirling's gains on the long shots gave her the edge from the start.

FIVE UP AT TURN

Miss Stirling was five up at the turn, having won the first, second and third in quick order; Mrs. Hurd picked up her ball on two after she had used four shots when Miss Stirling lay within a few feet of the pin on her second.

The fourth went to Mrs. Hurd, her drive falling on the green back of the cup while Miss Stirling's tee shot went into a trap and she used three coming to the green.

The champion then won the sixth, seventh and ninth, after halving the fifth and eighth. Miss Stirling went out in 40, using approximately fifteen putts.

On the incoming nine, Mrs. Hurd succeeded in halving the tenth and then won the eleventh in six, when some bad lies and a penalty for picking out of a water hazard forced Miss Stirling to take a seven.

The next three holes were halved, Mrs. Hurd being saved on the fourteenth, when her second shot hit a spectator seated in the woods to the left and bounded back on the course.

On the fifteenth Miss Stirling drove 200 yards and then taking her mid-iron played the ball on the edge of the green while Mrs. Hurd took three. Miss Stirling's first putt hung on the edge of the cup while Mrs. Hurd's was several feet away, and they halved the hole, ending the match.

Miss Stirling played one of the greatest games of her career and was never in danger, Mrs. Hurd being totally outclassed.

The cards:

Out—
Miss Stirling 4 4 5 5 5 5 4 4 4—40
Mrs. Hurd . 5 7 6 3 5 6 5 4 6—47

In—
Miss Stirling 5 7 4 4 5 5
Mrs. Hurd . 5 6 4 4 5 5

Miss Stirling won her way into the final by eliminating Miss Elaine Rosenthal and Miss Edith Cummings of Chicago.

LIGHTWEIGHTS FAIL TO FLOCK INTO TOURNEY

Only One Entry, To Date, For Prospective Title Contest In Ring

BY "RIGHT CROSS"

There was no tremendous rush of candidates in answer to the call of Mr. G. H. Parkes, Boxing Instructor at the Public School for Boys, for an elimination contest for the 1920-21 lightweight championship of the International Settlement.

Indeed, up to the present writing only one boxer—E. Siemsen—has sent in his name for the event, which was originally planned as the piece de resistance of a Schools tourney to be held during the month of January.

Should it be found impracticable to arrange these lightweight elimination contests, Mr. Parkes hopes to arrange a special exhibition between Siemsen and Wittsack—both sturdy battlers—to feature the final evening of the Schools program.

However, there is still ample time for ambitious young 133-pounders to send their names to Mr. Parkes and get themselves in readiness for the January contests.

Meanwhile many of the Public School lads of varying poundage and experience are at work in the gymnasiums, training lightly for the January tourney. A little later, when serious training begins, the public will be invited to look on.

It does seem that instruction in this manly art of self-defense should be included in the curriculum of all schools in the Far East, to the end that each pupil would not only be developed physically, but would acquire a healthy dependence on self and a knowledge of how to protect himself in time of need.

LLEW EDWARDS, DISHEARTENED, SAILS FOR HOME

(U. S. Naval Radio)

San Francisco, November 23.—Llew Edwards, lightweight champion of Australia, sailed for home from this port today, on board the Oceanic liner Sonoma.

Edwards came to America a few months ago to fight Benny Leonard for the world's title, but became disheartened when, on November 12, he was knocked out in three rounds at Minneapolis by Clonie Tait of Canada.

PENN STATE AND CORNELL VIE WITH "BIG THREE" FOR FOOTBALL'S "PLACE IN SUN"

Harvard Conquers "Mystery Eleven" From Kentucky By 31-14 Score—Princeton Humbles Navy Team—"Golden Tornado" Yields To Smoke Of Pittsburgh Attack

By Dudley Burrows

Interesting deductions are to be made from reports of the American-college football games played on the 23rd of October and reported in the New York newspapers of the following morning, which arrived in Shanghai yesterday afternoon.

Penn State's claim to gridiron superiority in the eastern part of the United States seems to grow and gather form, in the light of that outfit's tornadic victory over Lebanon Valley, which was disintegrated to the tune of 109 to 7.

Scarcely less impressive was the victory of Cornell over the strong Colgate eleven, which bit the dust at the rate of 42-0. The Ithaca warriors are playing the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia today and may pile up a big enough score to warrant a nomination as "the best of the year."

Pennsylvania, by the by, went down before Virginia Military Institute on the same afternoon (Oct. 23) by the same score which she later applied to Columbia—27 to 7.

HARVARD BEATS CENTER

Outside of this victory and the triumph of the University of Virginia over Rutgers (7-0), the Southern teams fared none too well in the North that afternoon.

Center College, the famous "mystery eleven" of 1919, gave way before the determined attack of Harvard in a game which drew a crowd of 42,000 persons to the Cambridge Stadium.

Center held the Crimson even in the first half (14-14), but crumpled in the second and allowed Harvard to roll up 17 additional points, the final score being Harvard 31, Center 14.

West Virginia very evidently ran up against a far different Yale eleven than the one which later took beatings from both Princeton and Harvard. The Moundsville men fought gamely, the reports say, but the Blue had little trouble in rolling up a 24-0 score in the four periods.

SMOKE SMOTHERS SUNSHINE

The famous "Golden Tornado" of Georgia Tech again invaded "The Smoky City" and endeavored to brighten things up by achieving a gridiron victory over Pittsburgh; but the Panthers fell upon them so viciously that they were eventually defeated, 10 to 3.

Ohio State, winner of this year's Western Conference championship, played its pivotal game of the season against Wisconsin and made a brilliant last-period rally which resulted in a 13-7 victory.

Wisconsin scored a touchdown and goal in the first period and was thenceforth looked upon as the winner, especially as the Badger team had been going great guns in its preliminary contests.

With only nine minutes left to play in the last quarter, and its two best men out of the game with injuries, Ohio State launched a beautiful aerial attack which netted them two touchdowns, one goal, the game and—eventually—the Middle Western title for the year.

W. AND J. VICTORIOUS

Washington and Jefferson, also relying on the far-flung forward pass, succeeded in vanquishing the strong Lehigh eleven by two touchdowns and consequent goals; while the Princeton Tigers managed to win by the same score from what was reported on that date to be a "fading" team representing the United States Naval Academy.

In the Far West the University of California aggregation—which subsequently won the Pacific Coast Conference—overwhelmed Utah, 63-0.

M.C.C. TEAM BEATEN

(Reuter's Service)

Sydney, Nov. 21.—The M.C.C. team was defeated in a match against New South Wales by six wickets. Hobbs scored 112 in the first innings for the visitors.

Shestov's Challenge To Civilisation

(A Review by Benjamin de Casseres)

All Things Are Possible. By Leo Shestov. New York: Robert M. McBride and Co. $2.

Philosophers are as plentiful as idealists. Thinkers are rare. Philosophers are generally allied to systems. They are synthetic, constructive. We speak of "destructive thinkers," but seldom of "destructive philosophers." Properly speaking, to think is to decompose, to dissociate, to analyse. Thinkers of the first rank bring not peace but a sword. They are as uncomfortable as truth, while a philosopher is as comfortable as a lie. He brings to us the illusion that satisfies our egotism. The great thinker is most always a literary and social outlaw. The "philosopher" lectures a la Bergson. There is always a crush of petticoats and landaus at his afternoon lectures.

The great thinker, in all ages, has always been subjective. He records moods, thoughts and sensations as they come to him. His work is merely the autobiography of his intellect and sensibility. He records honestly, so he contradicts himself perpetually. He starts with the premise Mystery and ends with the famous question of Pontius Pilate and the "Que Sais-je?" that Michel de Montaigne had graven on his tombstone. Before the infinite and the eternal his attitude is one of humility. He does not say, I affirm. He questions, records and passes.

So the real thinker does not put down his thoughts consecutively or logically. He is not writing a serial, but a diary. He is a crucible, not a matrix. He is a dilettante, a connoisseur, an epicurean. His progenitors were those two great skeptics of the ancient world, Heraclitus and Epicurus. They affirmed incessant variety as the law of life. Their premise was eternal change. Their conclusion. All certainty is a form of error.

Leo Shestov, a Russian still living at the age of 50, belongs in the high line of iconoclasts. His book, "All Things Are Possible," just translated from the Russian by S. S. Kotelianshy with a brilliantly written foreword by D. H. Lawrence, is a sheaf of 166 pages on life, literature, European civilisation, Russia, and, in fact, all things. His style is clear, uncollegiate and literary.

There is, nevertheless, a unity in the nihilism of Shestov, as there is in all his great predecessors. The unity of the skeptical thinkers is never in the brain. It is in the sensibility. Thought-sittings take on the fibre of the sieve, and our sensibility is a sieve of the external and internal universes. Our thoughts and judgments are created by our feelings and instincts. Spinoza says that every ideal is based on a physical need. Among the great negationists, like Shestov, the need is also physical—it is the search for Ultimate Well-Being, which idealists call Truth.

Mr. Lawrence tells us that Shestov is "preaching nothing." He is only "tweaking the nose of European idealism." His work is a protest against all present-day solutions of anything. A conviction is in a jail. In the infinite combinations of mind and matter all things are possible. Whatever is is only provisionally true. The "great teachers" are merely temperament superimposed on mystery. "Panaceas" are the art of sticking diamonds in our wounds. Illusion is Grace (Did not Emerson say, "Illusion is God's method"?) The Sphinx says, "Ask me no questions and I'll tell you no lies." What we call "progress" is only a return to the deeps of memory. What gardens, what prospects, what vistas in life! It is all memory.

What remains? Your consciousness, your self—the Recorder of the transitory, the aesthetic onlooker. The universe was invented so that the soul of a Shestov—or you or me—could enjoy the spectacle. The individual is the final criterion of all things—if we must have a criterion. This ultimate is the instinctive worship and divinisation of master souls by the herd. In social and artistic and political evolution the part is greater than the whole. The cultured superman is the pinnacle—call him Shakespeare, Napoleon, Beethoven, the Galilean or Montaigne—the "message" is nothing; the vision is all.

So, in wandering through this fascinating intellectual addenda to a profoundly Russian and modern sensibility one always feels one is in direct contact with a Man, not with a "message," a "solution" or a patent social or artistic nostrum. There are so many persons writing today, but individuals are few. Most of our up-to-date "philosophers" and "thinkers" quote authorities to stand on. Shestov quotes them to deny them. The difference reminds me of an anecdote told about the late William James. After a month spent at Chautauqua, among the goodly Disciples of Sweetness and Light, he hurried back to New York with the exclamation, "Where can I find some crooks? I want to rub elbows with life!" A splendid parable by our pluralistic Paul, who was trying of find the road out of Damascus.

The disease of Russia, Shestov avers impliedly, is that it has never dared to assert itself. It is sick because it has put on the spiritual, mental, social and religious mask of European civilisation. There is no self-reliance, no healthy egotism in the Russian. He lives on borrowed clothes and borrowed food. He has conceived himself as he is not, and as he can never be. His soul is imported. He has not yet discovered that the Kingdom of God is within him. He is Hamlet-Don Quixote because he has not the courage to be simply Russian. He is neither Teuton, Gaul nor Anglo-Saxon, and the tragi-comedy of Russia today is caused by the pathetic attempts to ape the thought and manners of these Uitlanders. Mr. Lawrence is right when he says, echoing Shestov, "Russia will laugh at us before long; meanwhile she goes through the last stages of reaction against us, kicking away from the old womb of Europe."

Shestov gives one of the final kicks. "A plague on both your houses!" he thunders, which might be paraphrased into "A plague on all your houses!" But he smiles a veiled smile withal as who should say:

"We Russians may be the finale of crowns in the drama of Christian civilisation!"

MISS CATHER'S STORIES

Youth And The Bright Medusa. By Willa Cather. New York: Alfred A. Knopf. $2.25.

If Willa Cather had written nothing except "Coming, Aphrodite!" the first of the eight stories in her "Youth and the Bright Medusa," there could be no doubt of her right to rank beside the greatest creative artists of the day. This pagan paean to Beauty, symbolised in the love story of an artist and written with exquisite sympathy, is a veritable Koh-i-noor in the rhinestone and paste tiara of contemporary literature. All clamorers at the gates of art who have bitterly felt the sting of worldly success withheld will want to lay wreaths of gratitude at the author's feet for the artistry with which her story has given voice to that loneliness of spirit which is the ultimate tragedy of their lives.

The theme of this story—youth's adventure with the many-colored Medusa of art—runs like a golden thread through the entire collection, a thread so dazzling that delight in its gleam swept the reviewer away from sobriety of expression into a mood of molten appreciation that made him grab a sheet of notepaper and write to a friend. "Don't fail to read Willa Sibert Cather's latest book if you have to beg the price of it." And facile enthusiasms are not one of his weaknesses; out of the last half hundred books of fiction he has reviewed for these columns not one has moved him to unreserved praise.

"Coming, Aphrodite!" is a gem so bright that it glitters even in the setting of its companions, every one of which has power to compel admiration from all readers who appreciate a writer's ability to bare the very veins of human emotion. "The Diamond Mine," the story of an opera singer's life, is equally rich in illuminating phrases and flashes of bold, imaginative insight. In it, Miss Cather gives us in a single adjective a flashlight picture of a great heart, presents in each sentence a page from a tragic career. The restless quality of her imagination and the uncompromising truthfulness of her analysis enable her so vividly to bottle up in a paragraph the essence of a character that her word portraits are unforgettably limned upon the reader's mind.

"A Gold Slipper" and "Scandal" also reconstruct chapters from the life of a prima donna, not the same singer who figures in "The Diamond Mine," but a woman the original of whom will be recognised by many American music lovers. The four remaining stories in the book. "Paul's Case," "A Wagner Matinee," "The Sculptor's Funeral," and "A Death in the Desert," are reprinted from the author's first book of stories, which appeared in 1905 under the title of "The Troll Garden." With the possible exception of "The Sculptor's Funeral," they are not as fine as the first two stories in the present collection, but they are yet sketches of which any writer might well be proud.

"Youth and the Bright Medusa" is decidedly a literary event which no lover of the best fiction will want to miss.

THE HEART OF UNAGA

The Heart Of Unaga. By Ridgwell Cullum. New York and London: G. P. Putnam's Son. $2.

Again Mr. Cullum has given us an adventure story, a gripping tale of love and sorrow that leaves one shivering in the desolation of icy blizzard-sweeping blasts north of 60 degrees or burning in the consuming fires of "The Heart of Unaga."

The scene is laid in the hoary forests of the great Northwest, with their harsh, unyielding and overwhelming magnificence, where man soon learns that he is no more than those other savage creatures who "seek to support the life that is thrust upon them." It is a place where the game is played without regard to rules, where man's only ideal of honor and decency is the necessity of the moment, and where the common rights of an individual are measured only in terms of his ability to use a gun.

In a country such as this we are introduced to Inspector Steve Allenwood of the Allowa Indian Reserve, a fearless man of prodigious faith and unconscious spiritual force, who loves with all the strength and honor of his manhood and who is sold—sold tragically and unmercifully—while in the perilous discharge of his duty in trailing the murder of a pioneer chemist some thousand miles north of Unaga. And the suffering of Allenwood, ill, bruised and worn, is so graphically depicted that the gentle reader pities and prays for this silent and forlorn but indomitable spirit as he comes back after the passing of two futile, unproductive years of bitterness to gather the wreckage of his shattered life and to reach forth again for Marcel Brand, the orphaned boy of the murdered chemist, that "anchor that held him safe till the storm blew itself out." How he returns to Unaga and takes up life in the old Brand fortress with the renewed inspiration of rearing the boy Marcel, how, after fourteen years of unsuccessful searching, he penetrates to the volcanic "Heart of Unaga" to find for Marcel the habitat of the priceless secret drug, adresol; how Marcel and Keeko, who is none other than Allenwood's daughter, meet and love while trapping in the Northland, and how the fumes of the deadly plant finally avenge the wrong to the hero—is all told with dramatic and consummate skill.

Of course, the dialogue between Marcel and Keeko is not at all times consistent with their years and training, but we realise that they are chiefly the mouthpiece for Mr. Cullum's righteous views, and, anyway, it is all entirely forgotten in the youthful splendor and vigor of their wholesome passion. The idea, too, of the inhalation of any one drug in its natural stote producing instantaneous death is a bit far fetched. However, the villain had to die, and his being killed through the crowning work of Allenwood is perhaps a happy stroke of the author, so that we gladly lend our imagination for the time being.

The story has an unusual plot, which is masterfully developed, and the descriptions of the Northwest primitive life and the hibernating Indians are extremely vivid. All the characters are intensely real and well portrayed, particularly the gently human Dr. Ross and his jovial, buxom mother-wife, and the great-hearted, all-understanding squaw nurse, An-ina. The book is at all times interesting, and in spots even inspired. It is replete with tense, dramatic action, and certainly its never-say-die theme is a challenge to sluggards who follow the line of least resistance.

EGAN

Egan. By Holworthy Hall. New York: Dodd, Mead and Co.

Among America's major interests are love, big business and adventure. "Egan" is a rattling romance about all three. Bronson Egan returned from the World War, an ace with the three most coveted decorations in the world on his breast, to find that his father had died and his father's business had been wrecked. The Egan Company, manufacturer of machinery, enlisted for Government work during the war, was a one-man concern, and while the father lay ill unto death an unfortunate note became due, and the inevitable enemies seized upon the chance to secure control of this formidable business rival. The capital stock of the concern had been pledged upon the note, ugly rumors were spread about the firm's solvency and the stock was bought in at bare par. Eddie Macklin, a stay-at-home patriot of Bronson Egan's age and his rival for the hand of Mary Kent, a wealthy daughter of one of Egan's two chief competitors, engineered the wrecking of the Egan Company, persuaded friends to invest all their savings in it and then drove it into insolvency.

It is out of this situation that the story develops. There is no letup in the interest, and the business element is especially well handled. It is the kind of book that the reader takes up and lays down only when it is finished.

Hunan Government To Redeem Bank Currency

Province To Have 'Monroe Government' And Will Regulate Its Own Offairs

(China Press Correspondence)

Changsha, Hunan, Nov. 17.—Beginning with the middle of this month, the notes of the Bank of Hunan will be redeemed by government through the Chamber of Commerce, the latter to be supplied daily with 10,000 strings of copper coins by the Mint. (Note. One string is equal to 1,000 cash, or 100 coppers). It is expected that all the notes now in circulation will be redeemed and destroyed within six months. The five-dollar notes printed in Canton have been all destroyed. The remaining stand as follows:

$1 Notes printed in Canton amounting to	$828,861.00
Less Notes Destroyed (to Nov. 15, 1920) ...	7,000.00
$1 Notes Still in Circulation ....=	$821,861.00
50 cts. Notes Printed in Canton Amounting to	500,000.00
10 cts. Notes Printed in Canton Amounting to	299,500.00
Total of Subsidiary Notes	$799,500.00
Less Notes Destroyed (to Nov. 15, 1920)	216,300.00
Subsidiary Notes still in Circulation ..	=$583,200.00

DECLARE MONROE DOCTRINE

In a telegram sent out by Governor Tan Yen-kai, General Tsao Heng-ti and others, Hunan has practically declared a sort of "Monroe Government" for the province. "She will henceforth be governed by herself; she will not interfere with the affairs of other provinces; and, most important of all, she will firmly defend herself against any outside aggression." This doctrine has been put into effect, when the unification scheme, proposed by Tsen Chun-hsuan and Lu Yung-ting and approved by the Peking Government, was openly defied by the Hunanese.

General Li Li-chun, a noted southern leader, who at the head of Yunnan troops was badly defeated in Szechuen, and who applied for a passage through Hunan to 'go to Shanghai,' was sternly refused admittance. It is the feeling of the people that Hunan has had enough of the militarists both of the North and of the South, and that it is only fair now to give her a chance to manage her own affairs.

INTERNAL STRUGGLE

Fighting near Changteh has been quieted down. Places like Chili and Ta-yung were recovered one after another. The 'rebel' leaders, including Lin Hsiu-mei and Wong Yu-yin, had to seek refuge elsewhere.

General Chen Kia-yu, who is in charge of the defense of the southern frontier line of Hunan, reports to the Governor that the troops of Mo Yun-hsin, ex-Tuchun of Kwangtung, are approaching Yi-chang and Lanshan (near Chenchow), and that proper measures are being taken to check their advance.

PLANS FOR IMPROVEMENT

To improve the conditions of the city of Changsha, Mr. Shih, Chief of the Municipal Administration Bureau, has prepared the following program: (1) To divide the city into convenient sections; (2) to level the cites used to be occupied by the city wall, which is now being torn down; (3) to construct five main roads to facilitate communication and transportation; (4) to provide the city with running water; and (5) to unify the lighting system by buying up the two electric companies now in existence. To carry out these schemes, Mr. Shih proposes to raise funds either by issuing municipal debentures or by floating a loan outside. It is estimated that from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 will be required for this purpose. In consideration of the financial stringency of Changsha, it is difficult to say when Mr. Shih's plan will be realised.

PROVINCIAL ROADS

General Tan Yen-kai, during his second administration as Civil Governor of Hunan, had made plans for a provincial road-system. This system is now again referred to the Provincial Assembly for discussion According to his plan, there will be three truck lines. The first line runs from Changsha to Hengchow, via Siangtan; and Henshan the second, from Changsha to Changteh via Ninghsiang, Yiyang, Hangshou; and the third from Siangtan to Hunkiang via Siangshiang, Anhua, Shouyang, and Wukang. Besides the main lines, there will be four branches; (1) from Hengchow to the border of Kwangse; (2) from Hengchow to the border of Kwangtung; (3) from Changteh to the border of Hupeh; and (4) from Changteh to the border of Kweichow. When these roads are completed, Hunan will not only enjoy easy travel within the province, but will make good connections for bordering provinces.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS

Besides Professor and Mrs. Dewery, Mr. Bertrand Russel and Miss Black, Changsha receives a visit from Mr. Witter Bynner, the famous American poet. Mr. Bynner has been translating the anthology of the "Three Hundred Tang Poems," with Dr. Kiang Kan-hu, Professor of Chinese in the University of California. One distinct feature about Mr. Bynner's translation is the retention of the literal meaning without sacrificing poetical style. No such complete translation has ever been made. And, when published, it will prove a valuable asset to the lovers of Chinese literature.

CHANGSHA STATISICS

Now that the city wall has been partially torn down, the Police Department has taken measurements of the city and census of the population, giving the following figures:

Width of the City (East and West)	= 8 li 120 pu
Length of the City (North-South)	=22 li 8 pu
Circumference	=14 li 182 pu
Area	=115 sq. li 133 sq. pu

Educational Fund Measure Proposed By Peking Ministry

Fan Yuan-lien Wants Forests And Lands Set Aside For Plan He Advocates

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, November 19.—Minister of Education Fan Yuan-lien has proposed that the question of maintaining a fixed foundation fund toward the furtherance of educational interests should be submitted to the Cabinet for favorable consideration.

The standing regulations in force in other foreign countries governing the maintenance of a fixed foundation fund for educational purpose should be followed and adopted in this country which requires more educational enterprises to cope with the even increasing population.

In the opinion of Minister Fan, the Government should see its way to authorising certain unclaimed forests and lands in the remote parts of the country to be set apart for administration by the Ministry of Education for the above prescribed purpose. Any surplus from the administration will be set aside as the proposed foundation fund, whilst payments of the required government dues and taxes will have to be continued. Minister Fan is going to submit his proposal before the Cabinet in order to do away with those immutable difficulties now confronting the educational circles.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can h realize that of all the children born in civilized coun twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, b they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Cas would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasi by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and s ing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, d ly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens t pores of the skin and allays fever.

The following statement of the famine situation around Paotingfu was received yesterday:

INVESTIGATION

In what may be called the Paotingfu region there are about 0 hsien, or counties, affected by famine conditions, none of which have harvested more than half a crop, and some of which have harvested not more than one tenth of a normal crop. Early in September foreigners and native helpers visited these counties, saw the crops, or lack of crops, talked with inhabitants and gathered statistics from county officials. They learned that there are approximately three million people in this region hundreds of thousands of which cannot live through the winter unless they receive help and it is a safe estimate that tens of thousands have left their homes already in search of work and something to eat.

WHEAT DISTRIBUTION

Fortunately, in September rains came and made it possible to plant winter wheat for those who were able to get the seed. A Union Christian Famine Relief Society was at that time organised in Paotingfu with the hopes that funds could be secured and seed wheat loaned to poor farmers who would not be able to plant their ground without help.

This Society secured about $17,000 for this purpose and helped 20,000 farmers to plant their wheat fields and none of these farmers could have planted without this aid. This seed wheat was distributed only in counties where famine conditions were very bad and only to those families who had only little land, less than an English acre in most cases. The county officials provided names of villages most in need and village elders in each village selected those in their own villages who had only small amount of land and were too poor to buy seed wheat.

RED CROSS HELPS

The names of those selected to receive help were then posted in the villages where all could see them thus preventing favoritism being shown to friends of those who selected the names. The weather has been very favorable, the seed secured was first class and now the fields planted are in fine shape for the winter.

This seed was loaned, not given away, and after the summer harvest these farmers will return the same amount of wheat they received, although its value in money will undoubtedly be less due to the fall in price of wheat in the meantime.

But in this way they have preserved their self respect and with the seed planted in the ground there has been planted in their hearts a gleam of hope. The know that they are not absolutely forgotten by those who have enough and if they can manage to get over the winter and spring months they will have food of their own. The funds for this seed wheat were donated by the American Red Cross, and Mr. Liang Shih-i, both of Peking.

PRESENT WORK

But planting wheat is not enough to save the lives of these people. Something else must be done to help keep body and soul together until harvest time. To help a man plant his wheat and then leave him to starve beside it before it has grown would only be adding insult to injury. The seed wheat distribution is only the first step in the necessary relief work to be done.

HAIR NET CLASSES

The hairnet industry has been quite extensively developed in this section and by helping girls to learn this trade they have a means of earning a living without leaving home. Again the Peking committees have come to the rescue and about 20 hairnet classes have been started as an experimental form of relief work. Fifty or 60 needy girls and young women are selected for a class and are given free food for the three or four weeks required to learn the trade.

The hairnet companies furnish free instructors and when the girls return to their homes deliver to them raw material, collect their products and pay them for their labor. In most cases these girls are being taught the Chu Yin Tzu Mu (Phonetic Reading) while they are learning the hairnet trade.

In this work a girl can earn from ten to 20 coppers a day and may teach the trade to as many of her family as she desires. It is hoped that when these classes graduate funds will be available to not only enter other classes to take the places of the ones running now but to start others as well.

INDUSTRIAL REFUGES

Another form of relief work is the Industrial Refuge where women make clothes, bedding and other articles for which they receive their food and a few coppers a day or 20 coppers without their food. Some of these women are provided living quarters and some provide for themselves.

One of these refuges is making 4,200 bed quilts for General Wu Pei-fu's army and could get an order for 15,000 if they could get the second hand cotton of which they are made. Another refuge would be glad to get orders for making garments and rugs, and there is great need for the former at once to give out to famine sufferers who have sold their winter clothing long ago.

The cloth used in these Refuges is being woven by famine sufferers in the country who are thereby being helped to make a living.

PORRIDGE KITCHENS

The two forms of work mentioned above are for women and girls who can work but the maimed, the aged; mothers with babes and other dependent classes need another form of help.

For them porridge kitchens have been opened. One in the North suburb is feeding about 240 people twice a day and are beseiged by scores of others whom they cannot at present care for. Eight or ten others have been opened in the country districts where about one hundred are being fed daily at each place. These also are experimental forms of relief work and funds in hand will keep them going only one month.

A few weeks ago a representative from the Peking Committees came to Paotingfu and reported that Peking hoped all organisations in this city who hoped to receive funds from them would get together in one organisation.

Consequently eight societies, representing the Chinese, American and French nationalities have united to form the Paotingfu International Committee for the Promotion of Famine Relief.

The following organisations are included in this union: Paotingfu Commercial Club, the Paotingfu branch of the Chinese Red Cross Society, Roman Catholic Mission, American Board Mission, Presbyterian Mission, Young Men's Christian Association, Paotingfu Orphanage, and the Paotingfu Beggars' Refuge and Beggars Hospital.

Each society plans and administers its own work but its requests for funds from Peking must first be passed by the local International Union. In this way all the societies know what the others are planning and a more efficient work can thus be carried on.

So far Paotingfu has gone on the assumption that public works would be started by the Chinese government or other organisations so we could enlist thousands. If not tens of thousands, in this region to engage in such work and make a living for themselves and their families. We have therefore put our emphasis on work for women and children and men not able to do manual work. But the weeks go by, as they always do, and no call for laborers comes. We watch the flowers wither with the frost and ask ourselves if this too is to be the fate of the human souls around us.

The leaves fall from the trees and we see in that sign a forecast of the future, —human beings falling also, because there is no food and no work waits to be done by their willing hands. The ice forms in the still pools and we see in the future the still cold bodies around us, all because of no work and no food.

MUST SAVE SOME

A Britisher, well known in North China, passed through Paotingfu the other day after a week in the country south of here where he has charge of relief work. He said that one of the problems confronting him was to know what class of people should be selected to receive help. I noticed he closed his eyes as he said, "As I see it there is bound to be a large death roll in this region this winter."

Whom shall it be? Shall it be the weak and the ones with one foot in the grave already? or shall it be those who would have been able to till their fields in the spring could they have been helped through the winter? I didn't take down his exact words as he spoke them but I can't forget the problem which he stated.

If you can't save them all, and we certainly can't, shall we endeavor to help the weak ones or the bread winners who will be able to care for their families once they have reached the other side of the winter just ahead of us? That is one of the problems which confronts us, and it is not easily solved.

THE NEXT STEP

Another problem is, what shall be our next step? Shall we still cling to the hope that public works will be started where we can help men to find work or shall we begin at once to distribute free grain, provided we can get funds for such distribution? I mentioned above the fact that we helped 20,000 farmers to plant wheat.

Suppose each family consists of five members, there you have 100,000 people so poor that they could not have planted wheat without help. But these people all had a little land, else they would not have received seed wheat. In their villages there are at least another hundred thousand who don't even have a bit of land and in still other villages in this regions where we could not distribute seed wheat because of our limited supply there are other hundreds of thousands in destitute circumstances.

If public works can be started, and we most sincerely hope they can, we shall be glad to enlist large numbers of laborers, for we believe these people would rather work for an honest living than have to receive free charity, but if no such work is opened very soon we must ask for large sums of money, far larger than we have asked for heretofore, and we must ask not only for money we must also ask for more helpers to administer it.

We are at the cross roads and if the way to Public Works is blocked we must take the other, we can't stand still.

The report was prepared by Mr. E. W. Galt.

Diplomatic Corps Urges Contributions

Fifteen million people are facing death, starvation and exposure in North China, according to the telegram received yesterday by the Rev. E. C. Lobenstine, secretary of the China Continuation Committee from a number of famine relief workers in Peking headed by United States Minister Charles R. Crane.

After designating the catastrophe as the worst in 50 years, the message stated that the situation demands the utmost sacrifice. The Peking Christian Famine Relief Committee is appealing for funds. It urged that all missions and churches in the country put forth every effort to remit contributions to Mr. George L. Davis, the Methodist Mission Treasurer or the local relief societies.

If desired, communications may be addressed to Mr. D. W. Edwards of the Y.M.C.A. whose code name is Massau. Besides Mr. Crane, the message was signed by Mr. Liu Fang, Mr. Clive, the British Charge D'Affaires; Mr. Michelet, the Norwegian Minister; Dr. W. W. Yen, Dr. C. C. Wang, Mr. Wang Chung-hui, Dr. Green, Dr. Stuart, and Messrs. Gailey, Hayes, Wilder, Meng Hsing-wu, Taylor, Scott and Ting Shu-chin.

Stubborn Case of Boils & Pimples

"Can honestly say I am quite cured"

Our portrait is of Mr. W. BRIDAL, 27, Strand Street, Newtown, Mountain Ash, South Wales, Great Britain, who writes:

"It gives me great pleasure in telling you about the remarkable cure I found in Clarke's Blood Mixture for boils and pimples. After having suffered from time to time from both, and trying all kinds of so called remedies, and being under doctor's treatment, I thought of Clarke's Blood Mixture, having tried it years ago with success for a similar complaint. After taking one bottle it seemed to drive them out, and after the second bottle I found a decided improvement, and continuing with your Mixture I can honestly say I am quite cured."

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in cases of Eczema, Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout. Pleasant to take and free from anything injurious.

Of all Dealers. Ask for and see you get

CHINESE ASKED TO FILE WAR CLAIMS AGAINST GERMANY

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, November 21.—The Chinese Government has received advice from Dr. Wellington Koo, chief special delegate in Geneva to the effect that all evidences and proofs testifying to the various cases of loss sustained by Chinese merchants and people in consequences of the war should without delay be drawn up for submission to the League which will consider the claim of China against Germany in respect of such losses.

In view of this recommendation orders have now been issued directing the various provincial authorities to expedite in drawing up all testimonials required. Such facts as contracts concluded between Chinese and German merchants prior to the outbreak of the war, but which subsequently failed to materialise owing to the war, thereby rendering losses, should be fully investigated and reported to the Central Government at an early date, so that Minister Koo may be duly informed. Public and private transactions are included in the above mentioned orders. The respective responsible government organs have received instructions to carry out the necessary requirements.

Servians Planning Prosperous Future Through Own Toil

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 23.—The Excelsior publishes an interview with Madame Vesnitch, wife of the Servian Premier, who is passing through Paris.

"Servia is recovering, and means to become, through her toil, and thanks to her new frontiers, a great country," said Madame Vesnitch. "We are delighted over the peace signed with Italy."

"The Servian merchants are anxious to establish closer relations with those of France, and hope to purchase from France, in future, those commodities which before the war Servia bought from Austria and Germany.

"The Servian students talk French and teach it to those about them. All of them are thirsting for French culture. To celebrate the armistice on November 11, some Servians presented one of Moliere's plays, which was understood by everyone."

Parme And Gold Will Be Colors For French Club Ball

Naming parme and gold as the colors for the fancy dress costumes, the annual fancy dress ball of the Cercle Sportif Francais will be held Saturday evening, December 18 at 10 o'clock.

All costumes must be made of the two colors, samples of which have been sent to every member of the club. Gentlemen in dress suits or dinner jackets with only favors of these two colors as well as ladies in evening dress with only trimmings, such as flowers, and ribbons, of these colors will not be admitted. There will be no masks.

Two suppers will be served, one at midnight and the other at one a.m. Members are asked to apply to the secretary to reserve tables for either the first or the second supper.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, November 23.—According to reports from Chinese sources received today, the attackers are massing to the north of Urga.

State Department Issues Statement On Consortium

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, November 22.—The State Department has issued a statement explaining that the Chinese Consortium has been organised, with the full approval of the Governments of the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan, in the belief that the Chinese people will thus be enabled to procure capital for improving transportation and with the hope that greater unity and wilder economic development will result to the Chinese people, and also a greater understanding of Far Eastern matters among the powers concerned.

Foreign Trade Of France Increasing

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 20.—Official statistics of French foreign trade for the first ten months of the present year show a very material improvement over the corresponding period of last year, although the balance is still on the debit side, owing chiefly to the necessity for importing large quantities of grain and coal, to make up the deficit resulting from the devastation of the country's richest agricultural districts and the destruction of the mines by the Germans.

The importations for the ten months ended October 31 were nearly £1,200,000,000 at par, being an increase of about £80,000,000, but the exports exceeded £700,000,000, being an increase of nearly £440,000,000. This increase is mainly due to the vigorous impulse given to the exportation of manufactured articles.

Government Asked To Censor Letters In Hungchun Area

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking November 23.—Gen. Pao Kwei-ching, who has arrived at Mukden, has sent a telegram to the Government suggesting that, while it is necessary to station sufficient troops in the Chientao and Hungchun districts, with detachments at Paitsaikow and Chingyuan, disciplined, well-armed police, possessing a knowledge of Japanese and Korean, and with authority to censor letters and telegrams, should also be sent.

China's Plan To Close Post Offices Strongly Opposed

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, November 23.—It is stated on semi-official authority that the representative of one of the Powers has hotly opposed the Chinese Government's submission to the International Postal Conference in Madrid the question of the removal of the foreign post-offices in China.

The ground for this opposition is that of military necessity, for which the Protocol of 1900 provided. The representative of another power has strongly supported the proposal, but the majority of delegates held that the matter was one for diplomatic action, and did not come within the scope of the Madrid conference.

China Minister Is Honored In London

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 21.—In the presence of a representative gathering of the Chinese community in the United Kingdom, an illuminated address and a peice of silver plate were presented to the Chinese Minister and Madame Sze, "as a token of affection and gratitude." The chairman also handed the Minister a check, with a request that it be sent to Peking for the relief of the famine in North China.

CHINA TO TAKE STEPS TO KILL MILITARY PACT

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, November 21.—The Chinese Government has decided to take the following steps towards the cancellation of the Sino-Japanese Military Pact:

(1) That the opportunity now offered by Japan in her recent proclamations should be grasped and all possible measures taken to cancel the entire Pact.

(2) That the Chinese Minister in Tokio should ascertain the real attitude of the Japanese Government towards the proposed cancellation of the Military Pact.

(3) That a time limit should be set for the proposed cancellation by negotiations to be conducted directly between the Chinese Government and the Japanese Minister.

(4) That active steps should be taken in the Eastern Provinces in respect of the military proceedings defined by the Military Pact.

Ten Millions For Sugar Planters' Aid

(U. S. Naval Radio)

Havana, Nov. 24.—A New York bank has notified its branch office here to place $10,000,000 at the disposal of the Cuban sugar planters to enable them to make preparations for the coming crop.

A plan is also being considered for the extension of credit to European importers thus enabling them to buy Cuban sugar as well as any other.

Other plans are under way for the improvement of the nations position on the world makets.

Opium Dealer Is Slain By Patrons

(China Press Correspondence)

Tsinan, Shantung, Nov. 21.—It has just leaked out that about two weeks ago five Chinese, the leader of whom was a Chang Wan-lin, an opium den habitue, robbed a local opium "joint" and killed the owner.

Since it was about midnight when they reached the shop, the Chinese asked a boy to go to waken the shop-keeper and to tell him that they wanted to buy several dollars worth of morphia pills. When the opium dealer appeared, the intruders seized the owner of the shop and bound and gagged him.

While the men helped themselves to 85 ounces of opium, a gold watch and about 10,000 morphia pills, the Japanese seems to have suffocated. When the crime was discovered the Japanese authorities let the Chinese officials understand that the men responsible for the death of this Japanese must be caught and punished.

Since the victim of the crime was an opium dealer, the Japanese authorities seem to be anxious to "hush up" the affair and avoid the appearance of applying pressure. So far four of the Chinese have been captured, but the leader, Chang Wan-lin, is still at large.

JAPAN PLEASES DUTCH MISSION

Three Days Filled With Dinners And Parties Enjoyed In Kyoto-Osaka Neighborhood

Kyoto, November 8.—Saturday the members of the Dutch trade mission made an excursion to Lake Biwa and went by steamer to Omi, where they were the guests of Suzuki and Co. of Kobe.

A garden party was given in their honor later in the day at the beautifully situated residence of the Silk merchant, Fujii, at Ishiba and in the evening the Kyoto Chamber of Commerce tendered the visitors from the Dutch East Indies a reception and dinner.

Sunday the party enjoyed a visit to the famous pottery works at Kinkozau and afterward a delightful trip to Nara.

Today the party was entertained at luncheon by the Osaka Chamber of Commerce in the Nadaman Restaurant and afterwards attended an informal meeting of prominent Osaka business men. The mission will break up tomorrow. All the members are enthusiastic over the glorious reception given them in Japan.

Council Will Open Chauffeurs School

A school for chauffeurs will be opened at the Gordon Road Police Station March 1921 by the Municipal Council upon the recommendation of the Commissioner of Police, according to today's Municipal Gazette.

The course will last 26 working days with a class of 12 pupils who are charged $25 for instruction. A foreign instructor will be in charge with trained chauffeur as assistant. The aim of the school will be to turn out competent drivers fitted to enter private service. Instructional classes for owner-drivers will be given also if sufficient application for enrollment in such classes is made.

General Wang Is Opposed To Office

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, November 19.—General Wang Shih-chen has apparently promised the Chief Executive to come to the Capital, on the clear understanding that he will not accept any portfolio in the capacity of Military Governor. The Chief Executive has intended to comply with the desire of the old General who will be offered membership on the committeeship in the Grand Conference for the National Reorganisation and Consolidation.

Diplomat Arrested By Policewoman For Taking Nip

Mrs. Nina C. Van Winkle, head of the Woman's Bureau of the Washington Police Department, who created a sensation in the capital by arresting Robert S. Hitt, former United States Minister to Guatemala and Panama, in the dining room of the Hotel Willard, for taking a nip of "something" from a silver flask. Hitt was released on $25 cash bail, which was forfeited when he failed to appear in court.

SICILIAN PEASANTS SEIZE MORE LAND

Farms Owned By Municipalities In Catania Occupied By Inhabitants

Rome, October 10.—Peasants in the province of Catania yesterday occupied several municipally owned farms. They were headed by a band and carried the national flag. At Aderno 300 mounted exsoldiers occupied estates. Other lands were occupied today at Porcello and Regal.

Property belonging to the National Association of Former Soldiers has been ceded by the latter to the Workmen's Productive Co-operation, as the peasant organisation is named.

At Agiro 3,000 peasants occupied vast former feudal holdings, while 3,000 miners have seized the sulphur mines at Zimbarce and Pillere.

There has been no opposition anywhere, and strict order is being maintained.

Sing Song Murder To Be Dramatised

The entire story of the sensational murder of the sing song girl Lien Ying by Yen Jui-sung and Woo Tsung-hung, both of whom paid the penalty with their lives Tuesday will be dramatised and staged at the Great World Amusement Park shortly.

The play will consist of 30 scenes, depicting the life led by the principal convict, Yen, in early life, his association with Chu Chi-chria, the fifth son of the ex-chairman of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, the joy-riding with the victim, the murder in the Hungjao district, his escape and capture and, finally, his execution.

NEW FERTILIZER

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 21.—A commission of prominent scientists has ascertained, as the result of its investigations, the practicability of a new invention by M. Claude, a French physicist, for producing fertilisers from nitrogen extracted directly from the air by a process less wasteful and cheaper than the so-called "Haber" process.

ARMY INTERESTED IN RACE

Result Of 300-Mile Event May Determine Type Of Cavalry Horse

Burlington, Vt., October 10.—The question whether the thoroughbred of Kentucky, the Arabian horse, the standard-bred trotter of the American turf, or the hardy descendants of Vermont's Justin Morgan will produce the best horse for Uncle Sam's cavalry service is to be decided. The result of the test probably will be the basis for a plan under which the American National Remount Association will use the $250,000 appropriated this year by the Federal Government to foster breeding.

Each of these principal types of saddle horse is included among the entrants for the 300-mile test, together with grades of each, thus assuring a representative test. Among the thoroughbreds are two descendants of English Derby winners, Moscowa and Helmet, the grandsons, respectively, of the famous Persimmon and St. Simon. The Arabs include Ramla, Kheyra and Rustem Bey, which were among the horses of that type that all but swept the field in last year's race as representatives of the American standard breeds, John E. Madden has sent Lord of the Nursery and Avil Watts, and the Kentucky Saddle Horse Association has entered Morning Glow. The army's present cavalry mounts will be represented by several grade thoroughbreds and Arabs.

FORCED MARCH CONDITIONS

The horses will be put through their paces over the 300 miles of carrying roads between Ford Ethan Allen and Camp Devens, Mass., under the severe conditions of a forced march. They will cover sixty miles a day, carrying a minimum of 245 pounds, of which 145 pounds is stipulated as the minimum live weight of the rider, and 100 pounds as dead weight of the saddle, bags or pack.

The conditions of the race this year have been changed somewhat from those previously held. The weight to be carried is forty-five pounds greater. The time limit for covering each day's run has been reduced and speed will count 40 percent instead of 25 percent. The condition of the horse will be rated at 50 percent, but the point allowance for economy of feed consumed has been reduced from 25 to 10 percent.

GUARD AGAINST SUFFERING

Complaints that cruelty is involved in the test have been made to humane societies, but officials of the race have given assurance that horses will be withdrawn as soon as they show any sign of suffering. Francis M. Rowley, President of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, has announced that if there is any unnecessary suffering, due to exhaustion or lameness after the racers cross the Massachusetts line, those responsible will be summoned into court. The New Hampshire society will pursue a similar course, having veterinarians and humane officers observe the horses en route.

The judges in the test will be Major C. A. Benton of New York, Harry W. Smith of Worcester, Mass., and Major Henry Leonard of Washington.

The first day's run will take the contestants to Northfield. Tuesday they will ride to St. Johnsbury. Wednesday's finish will be at White River Junction; Thursday they will bring the test into New Hampshire, with the finish at Concord, and on Friday the riders will reach Camp Devens, the end of the trail. If the result is then in doubt, supplemental tests will be held there.

"The inner organisation can not be directed by the Municipality. A general administration is essential and must gain a complete knowledge of all matters through periodical visits to Shanghai.

SENDING MORE MEN

"In addition to the material we plan to purchase for the company we are planning on additional competent employes for the resident staff. Two engineers are already on the way to Shanghai. The managing director is to sail on October 27. An assistant to oversee improvements planned for the tramways and an accountant are to leave on January 5.

"The program planned is evidence of the good intentions of the company towards a considerable expansion and of the promptness of the head office in meeting its duty. The rapid erection of the new installations now rests with Shanghai. Granting of authority to build a new electric power station cannot be delayed."

The telegram then describes the advantages of employing Diesel engines in the plant, remarking that they are fireproof and cause no inconvenience.

ASK EARLY REPLY

"Please hasten your reply to our September report. The plans of the building and details of our organisation for the central electric power station have been completed; the steel to be used in its construction was shipped on October 15.

"Water pipe has already been purchased and was shipped on October 15. High tension wire for use in the electricity department is to be shipped on November 15. Two Diesel plants for the electricity department were purchased in July and will be completed within the next three months. We have provided for the necessary equipment.

"All this information should prevent any further misunderstanding. Kindly confirm this by cable.

"We do not doubt that the extensive program of expansion planned will give complete satisfaction to the residents of the French Concession and will prompt the Municipal Council to reconsider its previous resolution."

FRENCH COUNCIL REPLIES

The Council discussed the telegram and then decided to embody its opinions in a letter to Director Laforest. The letter says in part:

"(1) With reference to the head office of the company—the charter granted by the Concession clearly specifies that the head office of the company, meaning thereby its managing director and administration, must be located at Shanghai and not in Paris.

"This is not a question of the company's inner organisation. It is a question of administrative and official direction of the company's affairs. And the Municipality, standing on its rights, has firmly resolved not to give in to this. It is not to be disputed that the disagreements dating back many years were caused because the management of the company was so far away. This has been the cause of more and more deplorable conditions which are now frankly disastrous.

"(2) Relative to the so-called extension program. A side from the phraseology, this program is exactly the same as that previously sent us in your letter of September 29. The program is wholly insufficient for the present and the future needs of the concession.

REFUSAL REITERATED

"The Municipal Council cannot but reiterate its previous refusal.

"In addition to this, the Council has firmly decided not to discuss the expansion program until the question of location of the head office has been settled to its entire satisfaction in accordance with the terms of the contract. It is only under these conditions that a sensible program, which will consider present and future needs, can be discussed here and without loss of time.

"(3) The Municipal Council is greatly surprised to learn that the company has decided to purchase new equipment for the water works without first consulting the Council. This action is not only a breach of etiquette but it is a violation of the contract.

"(4) Relative to the loan of current from the electricity department in the International Settlement.—Your head office declares:

"(a) That the authorisation for this connection can not be refused, and

"(b) Recognising that this source of supply, far from being an aid, constitutes an indispensable additional supply for an unknown period.

"For (a) the Municipal Council formally denies this as you have already been informed on several occasions by the French authorities. The supply from the International Settlement has always been considered a breach of contract.

CALLS PROMISES VAGUE

"For (b) your management relies so much on this habitual source of supply that it does not provide for sufficient generating equipment and confines itself to vague assertions regarding the discontinuance of the connection. On this point the Municipal Council reminds you that it has requested details of your arrangement with the S. M. C. electricity department. No reply has been received.

"(5) In conclusion, Since the question of location of the company's head office has not been answered satisfactorily, the Municipal Council refuses to discuss all other points and regardless of the result to the company the Council reiterates its refusal to stand for the present state of affairs for which the Company alone is responsible.

"These decisions are final and will in no way alter the demands already made known to you."

Late Czar Of Russia And His Alleged Assassin

This is the last photograph made of the late Czar of Russia. It shows him sawing wood with Yankel Yurofsky, commandant of the Reds guarding the captured royal family at Ekaterinburg, Siberia. The Czar was murdered about a week after this photo was taken. Yurofsky is charged with the responsibility for the slaughter of the royal family, and, according to reports, personally murdered the Czar and his son.

RICE WEIGHERS STRIKE

The rice measuring coolies went on strike yesterday in Nantao because of dissatisfaction with their daily wages. Pickets were also established along the Soochow Creek to prevent the unloading coolies from working in Chapei, but proper precautions in both places put an end to all possible disturbance. The rice dealers are now negotiating with the leaders of the strike. Some of the unloading coolies have stopped work.

KINGMAN & BROS.
How to Preserve the Teeth
In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth, some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.
Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.
The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consists in:—
(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

Catalogued for sale—2,195,623 lbs. (about 980 tons).

Sold—930,539 lbs. (about 415 tons).

The local auctions took place on Wednesday and Friday this week, intervened by Thursday, Armistice Anniversary Day.

The auctions were poorly attended throughout, and general lack of interest was manifest. There were only very few buyers operating on a small scale, and a considerable quantity had to be withdrawn, no one grade being very much in demand.

Standard Ribbed Smoked Sheet found only a few buyers and opened at 39½ cents, showing a decline of 2 cents on the week. F. A. Q. and Off Quality Sheet met with no real demand, but was taken up in small quantities by a few speculators.

1st Latex Crepe also found very few buyers and only 2 or 3 parcels changed hands during the sales. 40 cents was paid for this grade, showing a decline of 4 cents on the week.

All the lower grades of Crepe l'kewise met with a very poor demand, but were taken up at greatly reduced prices by a few speculators from those sellers who were willing to part with their holdings.

At the continuation this morning the general aspect was even weaker in spite of slightly better news from London, and Standard Sheet only realised 37 cents.

Balance Of Trade Swings From Japan

First Ten Days Of November Find Exports Decreasing Faster Than Imports

As far as the reports from Osaka, Kobe and Yokohama indicate, Japan's foreign trade during the first ten days of this month was anything but favorable. The balance of trade was adverse to the country at Yokohama and Kobe. Only Osaka reported a fair excess of exports over imports.

The total value of exports at Yokohama amounted to Y.13,193,215 against Y.15,020,901 for the same period last year. Imports were valued at Y.14,198,560 as against Y.20,094, 969 for the same time last year. Both exports and imports registered heavy decreases but the fall in exports was the heavier. The balance was accordingly in favor of imports, it being up to Y.1,005,345.

REGARDING EXPORTS

In exports, only copper, insulated electric wires and cotton yarns registered small gains, all other commodities having fallen away quite heavily. Among others, raw silk, waste silk, habutai, crepes, sundry silk tissues, toys and others were especially rapid and heavy in their falls. In imports, on the other hand, petroleum, woollen tissues, rails, automobiles and their sections, machinery, and wool registered more or less heavy gains. Decreases in rice, cotton, and Chilian saltpetre were heavy.

Exports at Kobe during the first ten days of this month amounted to Y.6,673,881, while imports reached Y. 12,360,386. The balance of trade was accordingly in favor of imports, being up to Y.5,686,505. Both exports and imports fell away quite sharply, but in exports especially the fall was noteworthy, being cut in half. In exports, cotton yarns, braids, pulp and fertilisers maintained their last mark. In imports, iron and machinery registered gains, but other items on the import list all fell away heavily.

At Osaka, exports for the ten days amounted to Y.8,315,531, while imports reached Y.2,582,314. The balance was in favor of exports, it being up to Y.5,733,217. Both exports and imports registered heavy declines as compared with the preceding ten days. A striking feature of the ten days at Osaka was that the export of cotton yarns and cloth was nearly cut in half and formed a heavy adverse factor, along with silks at Yokohama, to darken the outlook for Japan further.

Forecasts Of A Bad Winter In England

"Indications accumulate of decline in industrial activity, and a consequent increase in unemployment," says the Outlook.

"There is said to be distress at the docks; motor-engine works are closing down; the master cotton spinners are considering a general scheme of organised short time. In the Lancashire area alone, we are told, nearly fifty mills have stopped during the last three months. It is hardly an exaggeration to say that the whole industrial machine is working considerably below its capacity.

"Yet the demand for goods is on a scale never before known. The whole world wants replenishing. Every nation in Europe wants British goods, but not a few nations lack the power of purchase. Still, if it be agreed that this country cannot realise the fullest possibilities of prosperity until its neighbors are also again prosperous, it is certain that those parts of the world whose purchasing power is little impaired, and in some cases even increased, are alone enough to keep British industry fully occupied for many years to come.

"Why, then, do we hear on all hands gloomy forecasts of a bad winter, with a worse spring to follow? The answer is quite simple. Production is inefficient and very dear, and enterprise is embarrassed by the extreme uncertainty of the political situation, foreign and domestic. If there had been among all classes a determination to make the best of things we should by now have turned the corner. Unfortunately, there has been no such disposition. While the new rich have indulged in the wickedest luxury spending, the trade unions have engaged in a competition of extortion."

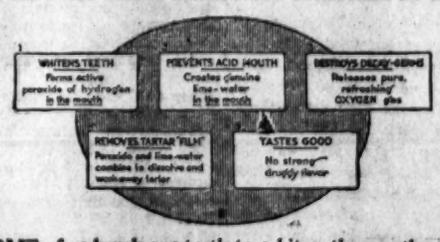
Five Dentifrice Features in One

(Newest ideas of all dentifrices combined in Calox



WHITENS TEETH
Forms active peroxide of hydrogen in the mouth
PREVENTS ACID MOUTH
Creates genuine lime-water in the mouth
DESTROYS DECAY-GERMS
Releases pure, refreshing OXYGEN gas
REMOVES TARTAR FILM
Peroxide and lime-water combine to dissolve and wash away tartar
TASTES GOOD
No strong druggy flavor

SOME of us brush our teeth to whiten them; others to prevent decay and still others to refresh the mouth. Many believe they have acid-mouth or wish to remove the "crust of tartar" which is forming.

Regardless of why you brush your teeth, study the chart above and decide whether the dentifrice you are now trying will do or is doing all that you can reasonably expect from a dentifrice.

If it is, continue to use it faithfully. If it is good for only one of the duties of a good dentifrice, you had better try McK & R Calox, which combines in one dentifrice most of the features of all modern dentifrices.

If you haven't heard the story of McK & R Calox—how it forms real lime-water in your mouth to prevent acids—how it creates fresh active peroxide on the teeth every time you brush them—how it releases genuine oxygen gas which penetrates into every crevice and "gasses" the dangerous decay-germs into harmlessness, if you don't know this story of the victory of modern science, send for "The McK & R Calox Story."

Your dentist will recommend McK & R Calox to you and your druggist has it. Try it next time you need a dentifrice.

The taste is a surprise to most people. It is not the least bit "druggy" which proves that it is possible to make a pleasant tasting dentifrice and that a "strong" taste does not prove the efficiency of any paste or powder.

Price 50 cts. per tin.

Thanksgiving And The Pilgrim Fathers

SHANGHAI today will jointly observe the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers at Plymouth Rock and Thanksgiving Day. You will find all the details in our news pages. The Pilgrim Fathers didn't land at Plymouth until December 21, 1620, to be sure, but what difference does a month make among friends when there is a chance to hold a joint celebration?

By the following November the Pilgrims had gathered their first harvest and they thought it meet to thank God for it, so Governor Bradford of the Plymouth Colony appointed a day for public praise and prayer. And that was the first Thanksgiving Day. Next year, therefore, will mark the tercentenary of that great event.

It was not until 1863, however, that President Lincoln made the day a National Holiday, this at a time when we were in the midst of our Civil War. We didn't have much to thank God for then except our principles and ideals but we have, since those dark days, had many evidences of His favor and many reasons for Thanksgiving.

None more than on this recurrence, for our country is peaceful, prosperous and happy, and we see evidences in other lands, which came not so safely through the Great War, of an early return to the conditions we ourselves enjoy. Most hopeful of these signs is the work that the League of Nations is accomplishing at its first general session. Further, British, French and Italian trade returns show that those countries are working with a will to restore general prosperity. Italy has resumed trade relations with Russia and there is every prospect that Britain will do so at an early day. The situation in unhappy Russia is improving. Germany apparently is preparing to shoulder her heavy burden of indebtedness to mankind. The Adriatic question has been settled amicably between Italy and Jugo-Slavia and the Russo-Polish war has been ended.

So that a number of menacing situations have been cleared up.

The terrible war of murder and reprisal continues to rage in Ireland, but the toll of life there is insignificant when contrasted with what the world has gone through in the last six years.

The real horror in Ireland is that the English and the Irish are murdering each other, when both have been fighting for freedom all their lives. It is a situation that cannot last.

The crisis developed by the defeat of Venizelos in Greece and the threatened return to power of ex-King Constantine was a shock to the Allies but there is as yet no probability of it resulting in a new war. Constantine has a good deal to account for to the Allies. When dethroned he took refuge in Switzerland, and we don't see how he can get back to Greece without the consent of the Allies.

In the Western Hemisphere there is no trouble worth talking about. Even Mexico seems to have settled down.

In the Far East, politically speaking, we also discern improvement. Japan is finding her invasion of Siberia unpopular, not only there but all over the world. And her attitude towards China is not nearly so aggressive as it was. In China, as between the North and South, there is, as we pointed out yesterday, more hope by far than there was a year ago, of an era of peace and reconstruction. The Anfu Club has been eliminated and we see no valid excuse for the leaders on both sides should they fail to get together and bury the hatchet within the next few weeks.

On the whole, the world, as this brief survey shows, has moved definitely forward since last Thanksgiving Day towards restoration, reconstruction and peace.

The terrible famine in China remains to be considered. And we can at least offer thanks for the generous response that has been made to appeals for relief both here and abroad. It is the worst famine China has seen in fifty years. And it seems to us that if at today's services resolutions were to be adopted appealing to America for very special aid, coupling the appeal with the occasion, the Pilgrim Fathers their first Thanksgiving Day and today in China, it would not fail of result. Such a resolution cabled this afternoon would reach America Thanksgiving morning.

World's Trade To Focus In Pacific

(By Robert Dollar in "San Francisco Business")

During the past nine months I have traveled 35,132 miles in an effort to build up the foreign trade of our country. Most of these travels have been in the Far East and Great Britain. I have been asked to write of my trip to the latter country and of our merchant marine.

I went to Scotland to find out the exact price that ships can be built for, as the reports published here did not seem to be correct. In Glasgow I found many yards are ready to contract for cargo ships for delivery in six to nine months, as hundreds of contracts made in Britain at war prices had been cancelled after two or three payments had been made, and the shipbuilders gave every evidence of retaining their supremacy in building for the world trade. There are three and a half million tons on the stocks building in Great Britain. In the United States there are two millions and in all the other countries about a million and a half, making in all, about seven million tons.

Lloyd's Record showed that in June last there were eight million tons more shipping afloat than in 1914, so there will be fifteen million tons more in commission in the next few months than there were before the war started. We are nearly up to a time when there will be more ships than business.

Foreign wages are lower than ours. To meet this our Government should pay our men the difference in consideration of our American seamen joining the Naval Reserve which in the event of a war will do good service.

The people living in these Pacific Coast states are intensely interested as it is only some fifty-five years ago that the first steamer crossed the Pacific and last year the entrances and clearances were over thirty-nine million tons. If you figure out that the same increase will continue you will see that the center of the world's commerce will be transferred from the Atlantic to the Pacific in less than twenty-five years. There can be no reason seen at the present time why this will not be accomplished, as the great development in the world commerce will be with the four hundred millions of China.

As to the Japanese question, the aim of many Americans, as well as Japanese, is to stir up strife. If this is kept up long enough serious consequences are sure to result, so it is up to the peace-loving peoples of both countries to use diplomatic measures in an effort to avert the rending catastrophy before it is too late.

TONICS

(Since America went dry, bay rum, scents, and hair-oil have been commonest causes of intoxication).

I've just been across the Atlantic
For the first time since Yankees went dry;
And restrictions are driving them frantic,
Though dryness is "all in my eye!"
When I asked if I could have a cocktail
The barman said, "Not very well, sir,
But I'll recommend some of our special bay-rum,
It's delicious with seltzer!"

To this I devoted attention
For the earlier part of the night.
Then he "brought out another invention"
Which soon made me merry and bright.
I got on a form and made speeches,
Said "Three cheers for 'Pussyfoot,' bless 'im!
This stuff's really fine—what is it, port wine?"
He said, "No, Sham-el-Nessim!"

As everyone knows advertising
Has been brought by the Yanks to an art;
So there's really no harm in surmising
That something like this will soon start:
"Use 'Roofo' for sticking your hair down
At night, if you are a late riser;
And we'd also point out, in the absence of stout,
It's a good appetiser!"
Scribe, in London Opinion.

POTTED NOVELS
(A Thief In The Night)

Outside there was an eerie stillness. Not a leaf stirred, not an owl howled, and on this particular evening nothing might have been heard of the soft tread of the policemen's feet if he had not been on duty at the time. Sebastian Kenrik sat in his study. With his left hand he toyed with a heavy gold chain which weighed a hundredweight if it weighed an ounce. With his right hand he toyed with the whiskey decanter. He mused that only seven hours before he had offered Smith on 'change, fifty thousand pounds for Muffins Ords and Smith had refused to take it.

You should have seen Smith refusing to take it. I wish Kenrik had more sense and had offered that fifty thousand to me. I'd have shown Smith how to accept it.

Kenrik said he did not care a tinker's blessing about Smith. In fact he'd like to see the man he was afraid of.

Night fell, as is its wont in [illegible] and Sebastian Kenrik crept upstairs cursing Smith for not taking that fifty thousand, and he fell asleep saying he was not afraid of Smith.

"What's that?" said Mrs. Kenrik, awakening her husband. "Seb, there's burglars in the house."

Did Seb Kenrik hesitate or think of sending for the police?

Did he leave his wife to the mercy of burglars?

Kenrik leaped out of bed in a moment like a man.

You should have seen him rushing down the stairs... three stairs at a time.

The burglars were on the roof [illegible]

Hankow A Somewhat Dirtier Kobe—Visiting The Tuchun

BY SAITO MAN
(Japan Advertiser)

This is our third and last day in Hankow, and tonight at 8 o'clock we are starting by the Peking-Hankow railway for the Chinese capital. What do I think of Hankow? Well, it is not unlike Kobe or Yokohama. The foreign settlements or concessions are located along the Yangtsze river, and between the water's edge and the concessions lies stretched the so-called Bund, and along the Bund there are long strips of green turf and well-swept promenades, on which no Chinese are allowed to encroach. Imagine the city of Kobe minus its green hills and rain-washed slopes, with its main Japanese streets dirtily Chinafied, and there you have a rough picture of Hankow.

The guide book says that Hankow is the Chicago of China. Chicago is cold, smoky, dark and bustling with innumerable motor cars. Hankow is warm and sunny all the year round except January and February, and there are a very few autos, and except in the Chinese streets at the back, it is hushed and quiet, and sitting as I do, in the second story of a hotel facing one of the main roads in the Japanese concession, I enjoy a solitude almost like Hampstead Heath in London. What constitutes its likeness to Chicago is the immense number of junks moored on the river Han-sui. These junks are Hankow's autos. Apart from its trade and bewildering multitude of junks, Hankow, like Chicago, is a dry and uninteresting town.

To the residents it may be a different story. The foreigners with their splendid Race Club and the Japanese with their splendid restaurants, none of which, however, I have had the privilege of entering, manage to lead a jolly optimistic life. Of all the Japanese traders in Hankow by the way, the most successful are, I am told, the restaurant owners; and they are practically the only people who can go back to Japan with cash jingling in their purses.

THE JAPANESE GARRISON

There are, I was informed by American missionaries, some Japanese soldiers garrisoned here—no less than six hundred of them, which is indeed preposterous, if true, the treaties with China considered. But I have never met a single Japanese soldier here. They must keep in the barracks all the time lest they attract attention, or possibly criticism. Which fact, however, seems quite well understood by both foreigners and Chinese, who unite in saying, as far as I have heard, that they feel all the greater sense of security of life and property and that they see no harm in their staying on. It is some Chinese students or anti-Japanese agitators writing or speaking far away from Hankow and the Japanese residents themselves who grumble about it. What is the use of their being here?

Is not a single battalion too weak to cope with a massed rebellion or too strong for suppression of petty theft and burglary? What good can it do except to entail expenses and gladden Japan's ill-wishers? These are the questions invariably asked not by foreigners or Chinese but by Japanese themselves. The foreign residents and Chinese here are sensible enough to see the practical side of the question. The Japanese troops give them a better sense of security, are well-behaved, and add to the prosperity, not the impoverishment, of the town, and they tax the pockets of none except those of Japanese people at home. Why should the foreigners interfere?

The Japanese authorities, if they have any sense of humor, will see the ridiculous side of the question and withdraw the troops. But you can never teach the officialdom of any country to see the point of a joke.

DUST STORM IN CHINA

I shall not easily forget the sensation I felt when yesterday afternoon I made a formal visit to the castle of the Tuchun or Military Governor of Hupeh province, which is in Wuchang across the Yangtsze just opposite Hankow. I, with a few others, accompanied Baron Fujimura who "paid his respects" to His Excellency. We were to have done so the day before, but a fearful Mongolian gale raged all day and kept the waters of the Yangtsze in such an angry agitation that there was no crossing over. This Mongolian gale is also known here as "dust storm" which is literally true. The air is wholly yellow all the while the storm is raging, with the dust from Mongolia which is swept down the plains of northern provinces for hundreds of miles. Close the windows as tight as you can, and dust will penetrate the inmost recess of your privacy all the same. It will attack, no matter where you be, your mouth, nostrils, ears and anywhere you like or dislike. But don't be shocked, curse or complain. 'Tis the fertiliser of Chinese soil, expander of Chinese territory, maintainer of Chinese population! It is part of a wholesome process of nature called the loess formation. So the dust that darkens the air and dyes your coat and hair, is a blessing in disguise inasmuch as it is in reality particles of the mother earth herself, which she scatters all over the continent, keeping the soil of China ever fresh and productive. But narrow-visioned humanity, especially alien tourists such as I find it difficult to regard it in that light, at least while it is raging.

THE TUCHUN OF HUPEH

Our carriages were guarded by soldiers in uniform clearing the path before, and guarding us behind, and that was the sensational part of our visit to the Tuchun. At the gate of the great man's home or castle, there were a formidable array of soldiers presenting arms and sounding a fierce bugle chorus. There are three gateways to pass, and at each a couple of soldiers stood at attention, presenting arms. Their uniforms might have been cleaner, but for the rest, they were exactly like Japanese soldiers. It would be no wonder if they were the products of Japanese drill sergeants. Chinese soldiers are ubiquitous, and as policemen often carry guns or revolvers plus long cavalry sabers. Chinese towns and villages are in outward appearances far more war-like than Japanese.

The Tuchun of Hupeh is evidently a very democratic sort of man; he looks it anyhow, and his talk confirms it. There is a young sprucely-dressed Chinese interpreter, a graduate of Marquis Okuma's Waseda University, whose jetblack and abundant hair is neatly combed and parted on the left. His Japanese is more polite than eloquent, and he makes a slight bow at the end of every sentence emanating from the august lips of the great man. The Tuchun pronounces the words equivalent to "do you understand, eh?" every now and then while delivering his meaning to his interpreter, which the latter acknowledges with a tremulous inhalation. I and Baron Fujimura's secretary and others kept at a respectful distance from the Tuchun on the other side of the round table, but he was gracious enough to pass round his cigarettes, and gave us a match box to light the weeds, while he himself gurgled at his silver smoking-tube, drinking deep a cloud of fragrant tobacco-smoke. Cups of tea and glasses of champaigne as well as a porcelain tray groaning under colored biscuits and a box full of silver-wrapped cigars, adorned the table, and of these his Excellency invited us to partake freely. Our Consul-General who introduced us to the Tuchun who is a dark-complexioned man of sixty with strong eyebrows and hard, feather-like mustache, now and then thrust in his classical Chinese of 50 years ago in midst of the conversation to the admiration of all concerned. Another personage no less important sat opposite the Tuchun in the person of the Civil Governor—a pale-faced, lean individual in Chinese habiliaments his sleeve-covered hands joined with each other in front, forming a respectful ring of arms—smiling and moving his head up and down in deferential approbation of the Governor's mighty words. His humility of manner and speech was wonderful, and his air of general amiability, not to say, pliability was altogether exemplary, which I hope our high civil officials at home will emulate.

UNCOMMON CONDESCENSION

The conversation over, the Tuchun raised his glass and drank to the health of his visitors, wherewith ended the memorable audience. He and his satelites came out to the door to bid us adieu, and we took our leave with a deep impression of the Tuchun's common appearance and his uncommon condescension. He is a fat, big man, as all important or powerful Chinese generally are. His head is large, but his forehead is not high or what the Westerners call intellectual. He has a pair of high cheek bones, and his lips are terribly thick, a sign of strong character evidently, and his eyes, rather small, twinkle like those of an elephant. At a glance he is a regular Chinese version of our late Marshal Terauchi, and he has struck one as being of the same type in temperament—a strong, courageous, bull-headed man, who will make a very good friend or a nasty adversary. His small, smiling eyes may become terrifying and satanic, if you brush his [illegible]

Changing Courting Customs

BY REV. JOHAN R. STRATON
(Pastor Calvary Baptist Church, New York City)

The two greatest interests of man at last are romance and religion. These are the essentials, and all other things are merely secondary.

Whatever affects, therefore, the marriage customs of the human race is of vital importance. For, come what will, there will be "giving and taking in marriage" to the end of time.

Some have thought that the high cost of living and other conditions would stop young people from plunging into matrimony, but such is not the case. The records show that ten years ago there were 31,597 marriage licenses issued by the authorities on Manhattan Island alone. In 1919 there were 40,075 licenses, an increase during the decade of almost 33 1-3 percent.

MARRYING YOUNGER

I was asked a short time ago, by a thoughtful woman of the city whether or not, in my judgment, young people were entering into matrimony at an earlier age than formerly.

My observation is that the tendency to early marriage is on the increase, and this means, for one thing, that there is not as much courting as there formerly was. Love will find a way, regardless of war, the high cost of living, or any other consideration.

But it is of vital moment to see that the way which love finds is wholesome and safe.

Conditions of former days, when our population was not so congested, when there were more houses and fewer apartments, and when similar conditions existed throughout the country, were far more normal and sane than now.

In the other days there was opportunity for companionship. Many young men and young women were thrown together at social gatherings, especially in church life, and they had an opportunity to know each other.

Now we are in such a tremendous rush that it has affected matrimony as it has everything else. We have everything but canned weddings. We have canned music and we have canned food, and we have two-room flats, instead of a home.

These conditions of modern life have affected courtship and marriage, and I think affected it with a profoundly detrimental influence.

COURTING AT THE MOVIES

I used to live in the South, where life was sweet and there were many pleasant social doings. There were picnics, straw rides, social gatherings and festivals at the church, where all was wholesome and normal and fine. There was a great deal of courting to and from the church, and even in the church.

And even in the city conditions in the former days were far more normal than they are now. In contrast to the old customs, we have courting now done on the fly—and some of it is very fly courting. It is done in the rush of business and as a couple giggle over some silly bit of sentiment at the movies, or through the impulses which are born upon the dance hall floor.

Young people are thrown together under these artificial conditions in our modern life, and upon the slightest impulse there is a proposal of marriage and a hasty wedding. These things are unfortunate, and our age must slow down at this point, as at other points, or we will suffer the consequences.

That has been my voice crying in the wilderness of New York. We must slow down! The race is living too fast and we are wearing ourselves out at vital points.

Understand me, I am a hearty advocate of matrimony and a lover of youth, but the time has come when we need to face some facts frankly. I never marry a couple without giving them a little kindly advice. I have had such a happy married life myself that when I see others who are going to be married I always advise them to guard well the little things of life and the big things will take care of themselves.

Runyon Reads Of Rube Burrow

BY DAMON RUNYON

In a little book store and novelty shop on East Ninth Street, in the heart of Cleveland's business section, I hesitated undecided among such seductive titles as "The James Boys," "The Younger Brothers," "The Dalton Gang" and "Tracy the Bandit."

I successfully resisted the appeal of "Mabel Gray," published for the trade; "The Mysteries of Chicago" and a volume labeled "For Men Only," price 39 cents, and finally carried away "Rube Burrow the Outlaw" for the sum of 20 cents.

It is a sinful little shop, or so it struck me with my prudish New York notions. Outside hung postal card pictures of ladies who seemed arrayed mainly for one of those bathroom farces which appear on Broadway at intervals. Which is to say they were not arrayed much at all.

Inside were many contrivances of a jocose nature, including a doodad to wear in the buttonhole and squirt water in people's eyes. A "joke marriage license" was also advertised. This description, I take it, is in itself a jest. There is no such thing as a joke marriage license.

Marked playing cards were also mentioned on a placard. Nothing was said of black jacks or brass knuckles, but perhaps the man had them in stock, at that.

Anyway, I took my book home and read about Rube Burrow, the outlaw. I want to tell you that this Rube Burrow was a mighty hardboiled citizen in his time, and before I got through reading the book I came to the conclusion that he was almost as onery as some of these bond thieves and other crooks we have around nowadays, only not so wholesale in his operations.

Rube would be sixty-six years old were he alive now, but it seems he was cut down along about 1890, when he was only thirty-six, in his very prime. A detective named Jeff Carter shot Rube through the abdomen in a pistol duel with the outlaw, Rube having serious designs on Carter's life. It is quite an interesting book.

It seems Burrow hailed originally from Alabama, but went to Texas, married, had a family, lost his wife, married again, and then took his brother, Jim, and a couple of other fellows and went banditing around the country. They held up trains and made some money, but it got them in bad in the community, so Rube and Jim went back to Alabama to visit the old homestead.

I judge from what the book says that Rube, for all his cussedness, had a certain touch of philanthropy in his makeup, for some of his correspondence is printed. He was long before Ring Lardner's time, so the style must be Rube's own. Writing from Texas to the home folks in 1887, he says:

"Dear Father and Mother: Eye will write you a few lines, all is well, Elixabeth has a boy. It was bornd on the 28 of February. She has done well. Mother I want you to pick out one of the prityest widows in Ala. I will come home this fawl. Pah I want John Thoma to have 30 dollars of that money eve want you to buy analyser a gold ring."

And so forth.

Rube and Jim Burrow were finally arrested and clapped into jail, but Rube made his escape. Jim finally died in prison.

Rube went on holding up trains, and got to killing people. He finally killed the postmaster at Jewel, Ala., a harmless man, and all Northern Alabama took after Rube, though he was a native son.

Rube was just naturally a bad egg. He picked up Rube Smith, a cousin, and Joe Jackson, a very loose character generally, and held up a train at Buackatanna, Miss., a great name for a holdup, as you must admit. Smith and Jackson were subsequently captured and put in jail, where they belonged, and Burrow went down to Florida and hid in the swamp, and then, while he was being hunted everywhere, he suddenly popped out and, alone and unaided, held up a train at Flomaton, Fla.

They got him after that, but he died with his boots on in good and proper style. One of his comrades, Jackson, in a confession, says something of Rube which impresses me. It is as follows: "Am pretty well satisfied Rube will come to Lamar County about September 1, because he said he would do so."

I judge Rube was a man of his word. It is not a bad trait even in an outlaw.

It is an interesting book all right. Still, I am wondering what that "for men only" thing is about.

Now the landlord will have to do over your paper clothing to match the furniture.

Papyrus apparel in all prices is on sale at any good stationery store. Depends on your income whether you look like a banknote or a peanut bag.

Send a paper collar to the laundry or press a pair of tissue paper trousers with a hot iron. Waddle forth into a rainstorm with a paper umbrella. Can you pipe the firemen flatwheeling into a three-alarm blaze equipped with paper helmets and a blotting paper hose?

The well-dressed man will have a paper bag for every day in the week.

Broadway choruses will be heavily overdressed in four yards of ticker tape.

Mail order catalogues will be in great demand. Page 459 should make a neat, inflammable vest. Mother will cut down the contents of grandpop's waste basket to fit the baby.

The post-office will open up a haberdashery department. Neat but not gaudy self-addressed overcoats can be purchased by the three-zone system. Rural free delivery neckties and parcel post underwear for sale at the third chute from the left.

Shirts will be made in the popular tablet form. Hats with reinforced tin corners made by the paper box firms.

Full dress paper bags with swallow confetti tails for formal affairs.

If the salesman wraps up your uniform, you will have two costumes instead of one.

A man with a string necktie will look like a bundle.

A lily cup will make a good high hat.

Pressing by Hoe.

Tailors will cut out paper dolls.

Fresh kids will pour glue on teacher's chair.

Flypaper underwear will be nice in warm weather.

On The Roof of the World

The breeze on the roof of the World affects the fur of the Tibetan Fox. The result is long heavy lustrous Fur. The locality here in some places more than 15,000 feet above the level of the sea, produces fox coats of long dense downy fur and over-hair of exquisite fineness and beauty, and in instances of great value. Only the prime skins are selected for you and no skin is sent out less than 45 inches in length, pelt and tail. You can have one of these Tibetan Fox skins by sending a Chinese Post Office Money order for $25 to MR. ELLY WIDLER, TATSIENLU, SZECHWAN PROVINCE, and he will immediately mail you one of these specially selected Tibetan For Skins.

Are You Living Or Passing The Time

How much of your life have you lived, and how much of it have you merely passed?

Yesterday, for instance, did you live really? Or was it merely an interval between things regretted of the past and things hoped for of the future?

A certain prefect banished by Vespasian left Rome to finish his days in the country. Afterward, comparing the profitable time he had spent in the country cultivating his garden and enriching his soul with the tumultuous existence in the capital, he said:

"I have passed sixty and ten years upon the earth, and I have lived seven of them."

How often do you dare to say, "Now I live. This is life. I am happy. I am feeling the joy of existence. I am doing what I was created to do." Is your life always Tomorrow, and Tomorrow, and Tomorrow, with here and there bitter dashes of Yesterday?

Is there no Now to your existence?

Are you floating rapidly down the stream looking out at the shifting panorama of forests and cities, watching the days flash and fade, hurrying along to the Sea of Death? Do you never stop your boat and sit awhile on the bank?

Is your life an express train and you a passenger forever going whizzing, hurrying? Are you impatient of all stops?

Why so hot, little man? You shall pass this way but once. The hearts that love you you shall never find again; the days that are now here shall be all tinged with sadness when they are gone. Why not stop a bit and sit down and take life in your two hands, and taste it?

Why not live, and not be forever passing the time?

Waterways Monopoly Is Surrendered To Peking Government

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, November 19.—The reason that prompted the Mao Tung Navigation Company to voluntarily return to the Government the monopoly of the navigational and natural power in the four rivers of the Heilungkiang is the fact that heavy losses were sustained by that Company during the 7th and 8th years of the Republic.

The Company was inaugurated in the 7th year of the Republic and only recovered its losses last year when the receipts showed aggregate of $1,330,000 while the total annual disbursements only amounted to a little over $980,000 thus realising a net benefit of about $340,000.

The general meeting of shareholders held recently passed that for various political reasons the Company should not continue its business and should therefore voluntarily return to the Government the monopoly power hitherto enjoyed.

Silk

Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows in their Exchange Circular for week ending November 24:

Exchange:—The London price of Silver has steadily declined during the week from 51⅝d. to 47⅛d. at which rate it is 3⅞d. lower than last week's closing quotation. With a continued demand for Gold remittances and very little adequate cover our exchange rate for T.T. on London has fallen 4d. to 4/8d. Today our local Gold dealers came out with resales of T.T. on London anticipating the possibility of a reaction in silver. They sold as high as 4/9¾ and our market closed firm under these conditions. Exports remain dull and there does not appear to be much likelihood of any support to the Exchange Market from that quarter for some time to come, so that any reaction in our exchange rates would probably be of a temporary nature.

Our stocks of Silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and Bar Silver Tls. 35,758,000 an increase of Tls. 780,000.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars $26,910,000 a decrease of $450,000.

Estimated value in Taels 55,400,000.

Stock of silver on November 26, 1919, Taels 27,800,000.

Famine Sufferers To Construct Two Government Roads

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, November 21.—It is now proposed that two government roads should be built from Peking to Tsinanfu and from Kaifengfu to Tsinanfu. The surveying party under Messrs. Kou Yap-kang and Wen Hsu-fang have started for the specified purpose with funds to the extent of $16,000. Two months will be required to accomplish this purpose. Active steps will be duly taken to carry out the entire project. Famine sufferers will be recruited to work. The road from Peking to Tsinanfu extends a length of 500 li whilst the one leading from Kaifengfu to Tsinanfu will be 700 li.
